Nixon wins

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon, polling more votes than any presidential candidate in history, crushed George S. McGovern Tuesday in a near-record landslide that solidified his personal leadership. But, once again, his Republican party failed to control Congress.

With more Americans voting than ever before, Nixon swept McGovern aside in every jurisdiction but Massachusetts and the District of Columbia in piling up 521 out of 538 electoral votes. It was the worst defeat ever dealt a Democratic presidential candidate.

The Nixon margin rivaled Lyndon B. Johnson's 1964 record of 61.3 per cent of the vote — biggest ever. Nixon received the greatest popular presidential vote ever cast — more than 44 million. Johnson got 43.1 million eight years ago.

With 96 per cent of the precincts counted at 10:15 a.m. MST, Nixon led 61 per cent to 38 per cent, with a popular vote total of 44,824,744 to McGovern's 27,919,012. John Schmitz had 1,028,425, a far cry from the almost 10 million votes by George C. Wallace, the 1968 American Independent Party candidate.

In victory, Nixon once again echoed the themes of statesman as opposed to politician, urging the nation to work with him for world peace in the final four years of the Republic's second century.

He said he had tried to "conduct myself" in this campaign in a way that would not "divide our country" — seemingly a concession that a deliberate stand above partisanship was his goal, even if it cost his party control of Congress.

Nixon, who will be 60 on Jan. 9 — 11 days before inauguration — lost the presidency in 1960 by the thinnest margin of any candidate this century. And four years ago when he won the White House with only 43.4 per cent of the total vote,

Valley voters back GOP slate

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley voters went to the polls in heavy numbers Tuesday to hand President Richard Nixon a re-election margin exceeding the national average.

In doing so, they helped elect Republican James McClure to the Senate with 60 per cent of the valley vote, and gave a smashing 74 per cent vote total to incumbent Rep. Orval Hansen.

Nixon took all eight Magic Valley counties handsly, gaining 72 per cent of the vote, compared to 22 per cent for Democratic Sen. George McGovern and six per cent for Rep. John Schmitz, American Party candidate.

Candidates for two other minor parties, Benjamin Spock, Peace and Freedom Party, and Linda Jemness of the Socialist Workers Party, took only scattered votes in the eight counties.

Nixon took Twin Falls County with 74 per cent of the vote, outdistancing McGovern 13,117 to 3,344. In several counties, the margin of victory exceeded a three to one spread. The closest of the eight counties in the presidential balloting percentage-wise was Blaine, which handed Nixon about a 900 vote edge, 2,113 to 1,240.

With the eight county vote combined, Nixon had 32,152 votes, compared to 9,413 for McGovern and 2,888 for Schmitz.

In the senatorial race, McClure took seven of the eight counties from Democrat William E. Davis, dropping only Blaine, but rolling up large wins in Twin Falls, where he took 61 per cent of the vote, and Jerome County, where he defeated Davis by a better than two to one margin.

Valley wide, McClure had 26,606 votes, 60 per cent of the total, compared to Davis' 16,389, 37 per cent, and American Party candidate Jean Stoddard's 1,347, three per cent.

The Republican candidate also ran strongly in Cassia County, where he outpolled Davis by a margin of 3,982 to 2,042 votes.

Davis won Blaine County alone of the eight counties in the valley, defeating McClure by a margin of about 350 votes, 1,659 to 1,504. Blaine was the only county of the state's 44 in the senatorial primary in August to give moderate Republican Glen Wegner a plurality of its votes.

In the race for the Second Congressional seat, Hansen, as was the case district-wide, had little trouble with Democrat Willis Ludlow, winning all eight counties and taking Twin Falls with 74 per cent of the vote and Cassia County by a better than four to one margin.

Valley wide, Hansen drew 31,390 votes, 74 per cent, compared to Ludlow's 23 per cent, or 9,981 votes. American Party candidate John Thiebert took three per cent of the vote, with a total of 1,335.

As in the presidential contest, the closest county was Blaine, where Hansen still rolled up a healthy 2,629 to 1,174 vote edge.

Voter totals were heavy, with 44,453 persons casting presidential votes in the eight Magic Valley counties, and 44,342 people making senatorial choices.

In Twin Falls County, an enormous 78 per cent of the registered voters turned up at the polls to cast their election day ballots in weather that started out clear and cool and ended with rain showers later in the evening.

Long voter lines were in evidence in several polling places, and some precincts in Twin Falls reported there were still people waiting in line to vote when the closing hour of 8 p.m. rolled around.

In Cassia County, election officials estimated 8,500 persons were registered to vote, with unofficial returns showing about 70 per cent of them, about 7,000, actually went to the polls to cast ballots during the 12-hour polling day.

Saxvik, Peavey, Yost win races

District 23 State Sen. Dot G. Fredericksen, D-Gooding, lost his seat to Wendell Republican James S. Yost Tuesday in a tidal wave of Republican votes.

But at the other end of the Magic Valley, Sen. Robert Saxvik, D-Burley, clung precariously to the seat he narrowly won two years ago.

Fredericksen, who was seeking another term from voters in Jerome, Gooding and Lincoln counties, lost in a close race, 5,021 votes to 4,828.

Yost took Jerome County by about 200 votes, added another 130-vote margin in Lincoln County and held off Fredericksen's 100 vote plus lead in Gooding County to capture the seat for the Republicans.

In district 26, all of Cassia County and part of Minidoka County, Saxvik defeated his Republican opponent, Dr. Charles Terhune, by a total of 63 votes, winning enough votes in Cassia County to offset a slight Terhune edge in the few precincts in Minidoka County across the Snake River.

Elsewhere in the eight county Magic Valley area, most incumbents rolled to victory in the state legislative races, including a lopsided re-election for Sen. John Peavey in district 21 in what had been predicted a close race, and large re-election vote totals for the Republican legislators in Twin Falls County.

In district 21, Peavey took 3248 votes in Minidoka, Blaine and Lincoln counties, compared to Democrat W. F. (Bill) Whitton's 3,362 votes.

Peavey took victory margins in all three of the counties, winning by over 600 votes in Blaine County, over 1,000 in Minidoka and outpolling Whitton 241 to 90 votes in Lincoln County.

In the races for state representatives in district 21, incumbent Republicans Steve Antone, R-Rupert, and E. V. McLean, R-Ketchum, easily returned to office, defeating lone Democratic challenger Robert Guffy by wide margins.

Antone took 6,077 votes, leading all legislative candidates in the county, with McLean taking 5,156 votes and Guffy gaining 2,788 votes.

In district 22, where Yost upset Fredericksen, the incumbent state representatives swept back into office, although one of them, Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, had switched political parties since his last election campaign.

Ravenscroft, who left the Democratic camp this summer for the Republican fold, took 7,310 votes, the highest of any legislative candidate in his district.

Incumbent Rep. Earl Greenawalt, R-Jerome, won another term with 6,450 votes, compared to Lee Rice, former Democratic mayor of Gooding's 3,120 votes and Democrat Anna

Louise Robinson's 2,145.

In the two Twin Falls legislative districts, the only new face is that of Republican Ralph Olmstead, who replaced retiring Republican Representative Jack D. Claborn on the ticket.

In district 25, Olmstead, a farmer from Twin Falls, and Ray Lincoln, seeking another term as a Republican lawmaker, outpolled Lynn Hempleman and Mrs. G. W. (Gerry) Creed.

Olmstead had 6,682 votes, Lincoln took 6,359, Hempleman garnered 1,943 and Mrs. Creed took 1,767.

For the state senatorial seat in the district, incumbent Republican Richard S. High outdistanced Melvyn Lucas, a Democrat, by a 6,653 to 1,772 total.

In district 24, the western end of the county, incumbent Sen. John M. Barker, R-Buhl, trounced Democrat Raymond Stricklan, Buhl, 5,253 votes to 2,217.

The district's two Republican representatives, William Roberts, Buhl, and William Lanting, House Speaker from Hollister, defeated lone Democrat A. K. (Aud) Reed. Lanting had 5,308 votes, Roberts polled 5,533, while Reed took 2,478, the best of any Democratic legislative candidate in Twin Falls two legislative districts.

In district 26, Cassia and part of Minidoka counties, Saxvik defeated Terhune by less than one hundred votes in Cassia County, offsetting Terhune's wedge of a handful of votes in Minidoka County to win another term. The total was Saxvik 3,554, Terhune, 3,491.

Incumbent Republican representatives I. Vard, Chubburn, Albion, and Ernest Hale, Burley, were returned to office over the challenge of Democrats Clarence Parr, Burley, and William McKean, Heyburn.

Chubburn led all vote getters with 4,249 votes. Hale got 3,754, Parr won 2,939 votes and McKean trailed with 1,488 votes.

In district 22, Elmore and part of Camas County, not all of the election returns were available, due to an Elmore County snowstorm, but it appeared that newcomer Republican Charles L. Barron, Corral, had wrested a house seat from Democratic control.

Barron had 2,370 votes in the district to win election along with fellow Republican Virgil Kraus, an incumbent, who had 2,432 votes. Democrats Karl E. Koch, an incumbent and A. W. Joslyn, a former lawmaker, trailed with 1,832 and 1,682 votes respectively.

J. Wilson Stoen, R-Elmore, easily won re-election as the state Senate, outdistancing Democrat Howard Fleming, 2,397 to 1,731 votes,

Hunter's boat found

BUHL — The boat used while duck hunting by Randy Elsing, 16, Twin Falls, who is presumed drowned in the Snake River near Buhl, was found by searchers Tuesday.

Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Gorder said the boat was hung up on rocks in the rapids near the spot where Elsing was hunting before he was discovered missing by fellow hunter David Malberg, Twin Falls.

Gorder said no sign of the boy's body has been found.

MOUNTAIN HOME — Elmore County election returns were not complete this morning because one of the county precincts was snowbound.

County officials said no returns had come from the old mining town of Atlanta where a dozen or so persons reside. The area is snowbound and election officials have to deliver their returns by traveling via Boise.

Shot kills Minidoka child, 8

EMERSON — Sharon Sherley, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sherley, Emerson, was accidentally shot and killed at her home Tuesday evening.

Sharon, a sister, 6, and a brother, Johnny, 14, were left at home for a short period of time while their parents went to vote, according to Robert Walk, Minidoka County coroner, who investigated.

Johnny was apparently taking shells from a 12 gauge shotgun in preparation to cleaning it while standing in the doorway of Sharon's bedroom.

One of the shells discharged, striking Sharon in the abdomen. She died almost instantly, Walk said.

The boy called for an ambulance and his returning parents notified the Minidoka County sheriff's office. Ray Jarvis, deputy sheriff, was the investigating officer.

An inquest is pending, according to Walk.

Funeral services will be announced by Payne Mortuary, Burley.

TF legislators look warily toward restructuring tasks

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County legislators looked warily today toward the enormous task of restructuring the executive branch of state government.

They agreed that the reorganization approved overwhelmingly by voters on Tuesday would be the most important task facing the legislature during its coming term.

But fearful of political wounds they expect from the process of reshaping state agencies, the legislators unanimously hoped to involve Democratic Gov. Cecil Andrus in the process.

House Speaker William Lanting, R-Tollister, said he was "hopeful" that Gov. Andrus would offer "some input" by way of suggested reorganization instead of leaving the task entirely to the legislators.

Rep. Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman of the Legislative Council Interim Committee on Reorganization of the Executive Department of State Government, said today his committee will meet before the first of the year to begin work on reorganization.

Lincoln said the reorganization will be the "most important task of this legislature."

He said it was unlikely that his interim committee would have time to develop a draft for reorganization to present to the legislature when it meets in January.

Lincoln said he expects a number of interested parties to introduce separate plans.

He said he expects Gov. Andrus to present a detailed plan.

According to Gov. Andrus' timetable, the legislature would consider the issue at a special session before 1975, Lincoln said.

He said he expects a special committee to be named at the next legislative session to draft a specific proposal to present to the legislature.

He said the public could expect widespread public hearings on the issue.

"I don't look forward to it with any fear," he said. "I think the people have spoken pretty loud and clear that they want this carried out."

"I see no reason for it to become political. The issue might become how much power this plan would give the governor. Regardless of which party has the governorship there are those who think the governor should have more power and others who think he should have less than he has," Lincoln said.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, said the passage was a "mandate to the legislature by the people to consolidate state government."

He said particular need for reorganization was present in the areas of consolidation of children's services.

Barker said Gov. Andrus "should now present a plan and the legislature review it" with the hope that an acceptable compromise reorganization acceptable by both legislative and executive branches.

Barker said the reorganization job would be difficult because there is "a lot of jealousy on part of these (state) departments. Everyone agrees the idea is good, but don't want to lose employees or authority."

"You'd be surprised at the amount of lobbying done by the departments themselves," he said.

Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, said the amendment "presents a challenge to the legislature to do a good job of restructuring government. The public is going to be so intimately involved that whatever plan we come up with we should consider presenting it to the people as a referendum."

Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, suggested that the question of reorganization could become a political issue.

"The reorganization amendment looks like it will now become a promotion scheme of the governor against the legislature over who is going to control the method of grouping the agencies into various departments."

Roberts, co-chairman of the Joint Legislative Finance-Appropriations Committee, said "The amendment was not designed on a basis of saving costs, but we as legislators can certainly try to shape the statutes so there will be savings to the people."

Roberts said it is "definitely appropriate for the governor to give a suggested plan."

Sen. Smith ousted

Sen. Smith fails in her re-election bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The defeat of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith — in Tuesday's election leaves the Senate without "women's power" despite a campaign where women were more active than ever before.

Mrs. Smith, the Maine Republican who at 74 prided herself on taking unexpected positions on issues as the only woman elected to four terms, was defeated by Rep. William Hathaway, D-Maine.

In other House races, Elizabeth Holtzman, a Democrat, won a first term in New York's 14th District; Marjorie Holt, a Republican, won in Maryland's 11th district; and Patricia Schroeder, a Denver Democrat, upset Rep. James D. "Mike" McKeever, R-Colo.

Helen Stevenson Meyner, wife of former Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, narrowly lost to Joseph J. Maraziti, a Republican state senator, in the re-elected 13th district. And Jane Pickens Langley, actress-singer star of the 1930s and '40s, lost in Manhattan's 11th district to incumbent Rep. Edward I. Koch, a liberal Democrat.

Republican Louise Leonard, a West Virginia state senator, also lost her challenge to Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., seeking his third full term.

Mrs. Abzug defeated Mrs. William Ryan, widow of the congressman from New York's 10th district.

With a voting strength of 52.5 per cent of the nation's 140 million eligible voters, women reaped the rewards of persistence in this campaign by being named top advisers to the candidates, having their problems considered as important issues, and putting more female candidates in the field than ever before.

"There were three women in major presidential party tickets, but the results of their effort were obscured by the Nixon landslide."

Democratic women candidates scored well overall, proving their independence from the presidential ticket.

Indians end hold on U.S. building

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hundreds of American Indians agreed to end today their week-long occupation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in return for creation of a federal task force to study Indian problems.

"Most of the people want to go home now," said a protester who declined to give his name.

The 12-member task force was agreed to in 6-12 hours of negotiations that began Monday night and extended into the early hours of Tuesday. Final arrangements were completed Tuesday night and the Indians, who seized the BIA last Thursday, agreed to leave by 9 a.m. EST.

Leonard Garment, a White House consultant who headed the negotiations for the administration, said the task force would include representatives from all federal agencies which deal with Indian affairs. Indian leaders said five of the members would be Indians.

In the 20 hours before the agreement was announced, the Indians relaxed their grip on the BIA and started leaving for home in small groups.

TF County slate rides GOP wave

By DAVID ESPO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls legislators and county officials swept back into office Tuesday on a great wave of Republican votes.

The solid six man Republican legislative lineup was returned intact to office with Ralph Olmstead, replacing the retiring Jack Chisholm on the ticket, the only new face.

Republicans also won all county races that were decided in regular voting.

In the closest race, Republican William Chancey, incumbent county commissioner, won his reelection bid over Twin Falls barber Robert Geer, 4,629 to 4,691.

In the other contested local race, deputy prosecutor Robert Galley, regained the prosecutor's job he lost in a primary two years ago when he defeated Democrat Twin Falls attorney Golden Bennett, 10,900-4,731.

In the legislative races, all of them contested, district 25 Sen. Richard S. High returned for two more years in the legislature, easily turning back a challenge from Melvyn Lucas, a Twin Falls car dealer. High's margin was 6,653 to 1,772.

Incumbent Republican Ray Lincoln and newcomer Olmstead outdistanced Lynn Hempleman, Twin Falls farmer and golf course designer, and former business woman G. W. (Gerry) Creed, by wide margins.

Olmstead, making his first effort at elective office, won 6,682 votes and Lincoln took 6,359. Hempleman and Creed trailed with 1,943 and 1,767 votes respectively.

In Legislative District 24, the western half of the county, Health Education and Welfare Chairman Sen. John M. Barker, Buhl, boat-back the challenge provided by Raymond Stricklin, a Buhl farmer and rancher, 5,253 to 2,217.

Incumbent House Speaker William Lanting, R-Holister, and Rep. William Roberts, R-Buhl, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, defeated lone Democrat A. K. (Aud) Reed. Roberts topped the trio with 5,533, while Lanting had 5,388 and Reed 2,478.

In the uncontested county level races, Sheriff Paul Corder, a Republican who overcame a primary challenge in August, won another four years as the county's chief enforcement law officer, taking 13,592 votes, the same total as corner Clyde Edwards, also a Republican incumbent, took in his unopposed race.

Ron Taylor, seeking his first full term as assessor, was also without Democratic opposition and received 13,027 votes.

In the only other race, Merl Leonard, Republican incumbent unopposed for another term as county commissioner, returned to office with 12,025 votes.

McCloskey triumphs

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — Rep Paul N. McCloskey, who challenged President Nixon in some primaries as an antiwar candidate, was elected to a second term Tuesday.

McCloskey, 46, a Republican liberal, defeated James Stewart, 35, a Democrat liberal and Palo Alto attorney, who engaged in a series of face-to-face debates with the incumbent.

They campaigned in a newly apportioned district which covered parts of San Mateo and Santa Clara counties. Democrats outnumbered Republicans 3-to-2.

Stewart, who also campaigned against the war, accused the former Marine officer of siding with Nixon on many issues.

Both Stewart and McCloskey were challenged by self-made millionaire Gordon Knapp, a Republican write-in candidate who charged that McCloskey was "derelict in his duty to constituents" by campaigning in the presidential primaries.

State meet picks aides at Burley

BURLEY — Ann Dudanake was named president of the Idaho Hairdressers at the annual convention and trade show at Burley Monday.

Other officers elected include Bernadette Bonamine, first vice president; Ernest Mortenson, second vice president; Ferris Cooper, third vice president; Lorene Nelson, fourth vice president, and Elva Knowles, fifth vice president.

Gayle Wood is secretary; Carolyn Pierce, treasurer; Leola Vickers, historian, and advisors include Adrian Smith, Jan Chase and E. B. Scholes. Bonnie Fry is remitting officer. Darlene Rickey is past president.

Disease treatment described

GOODING — Douglas O. Smith, Gooding, presented a report on chest diseases and tuberculosis treatment during a meeting of the Magic Valley radiological technologists.

The Magic Valley group met Monday night in Gooding Memorial Hospital. Reports on the Northwest Conference of Radiological Technologists meeting held in Spokane Oct. 20 were given by Jean Thompson, R. T. Filer. She said the conference will be in Boise in 1973.

It was also reported 73 persons attended the open house and dinner for technologists at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Houston in Sun Valley in October.

Rebekahs set dinner plan at GF

GLENNS FERRY — Aileen Rebekah Lodge No. 62 met Monday evening and made plans for a Thanksgiving dinner, with husbands or escorts, at Hansen's Cafe.

The dinner will be held prior to the next business meeting at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 20. The members decided to fill a Thanksgiving basket and all were urged to be generous in bringing food stuff for the basket.

A donation of $5 for meat for the Odd Fellow and Rebekah "Home on the Hill" at Caldwell was approved, also $5 to the Girl Scout Council. A flag-ceremony book was ordered.

Discussion was held relative to conducting a district meeting. Thank-you notes were received for dinner served following funerals. Mrs. Harold Hybee was reported as having undergone eye surgery in the Caldwell Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Hugh Sugg, Mrs. Raymond Golden and Mrs. Delmar Brannon decorated the tables with Indian corn, gourds and pine cones, and served refreshments.

To The Victors

At 6:35 last evening Walter Cronkite said on CBS that President Nixon had won another four years in the White House. At that moment Idaho's polls had another hour and 25 minutes before closing: the Pacific Coast states still had two hours and 25 minutes to go and Hawaii far into this morning.

But even though we knew the winner before all our people had voted, it had a very pleasant ring. The Times-News had endorsed the candidacy of President Nixon because we believed he was the man for the job. He won big and we are most happy because the world now knows the President has solid backing.

The election of the President was not the only pleasant thing about all the huff and puff that is an election. Jim McClure, who also received our solid endorsement, won over Dr. William Davis and will be Idaho's new United States Senator. In our editorial endorsement we said Jim was also the man for the job — and the man to go to Washington for Idaho.

Then, too, we endorsed Cong. Orval Hansen. His loss to Idaho would have been tragic. The voters, for the most part, felt as we did, and his return to office was never in doubt. To Orval — congratulations.

We endorsed the Legislative contingent from Twin Falls county. All were elected, including the newcomer Ralph Olmstead. To Ray Lincoln, Richard High, John Barker, William Lanting and William Roberts — along with Olmstead, of course — our congratulations.

In the Twin Falls County contested races we endorsed Bob Galley for prosecutor, and Bill Chancey for second district commissioner. We were especially pleased with the victory won by Chancey who was successful in overcoming a last-minute campaign of innuendoes directed against him. His victory was a personal victory which will prove to be of benefit to the county because he will serve two more years in the post he now holds and has held for six years.

And over Magic Valley we endorsed various incumbents regardless of their party. To these victorious candidates our congratulations.

For the most part the campaign in Idaho and in Magic Valley this election was not a knock down and drag out affair. Most of the issues were discussed fairly and openly. The biggest hassle was in the United States Senate race. But this has now passed.

And so we look forward, with the election over, to a period of rest and of getting other necessary projects accomplished.

And then? Well, there is 1974 when Senator Frank Church and Governor Cecil Andrus as well as our state's two Congressmen will be up for election. So, putting it mildly, 1974 should be a lulu.

Faster

There has been an adjustment in the estimated speed of light. Research described as 100 times more accurate than previous calculations has set the speed rounded out in meters at 186,282,396 miles a second.

The figure traditionally taught to high school science students is 186,000,000, which is not far off the new mark. The old figure was bound to be revised as science got smarter.

MR. SPECTATOR

Hey, Nader, Lookit

The current advertising campaign for a certain make of automobile claims that the car is quieter at 60 m.p.h. than a glider flying at the same speed.

This has been extremely painful for "glider" enthusiasts. Not because they lose in the decibel contest but because the aircraft pictured in the advertisement is clearly a sailplane, not a glider.

A glider is something little kids throw around. It's what they used to drop troops to the Nazis in 1944. It's something the Germans pushed off the sides of hills back in the 1920s.

But a sailplane, which some would go so far as to claim has no equal as the expression of a perfect conjoining of art and technology, of form and function, is an aircraft capable of soaring — of rising higher than its point of launch and of staying in the air indefinitely, as long as its pilot can find a rising air current.

Calling a sailplane a glider is like, well, like calling an LTD a jalopy.

ODOR UNIT

The Environmental Protection Agency is trying to come up with a way of measuring odor pollution.

It proposes adoption of a test in which a panel of eight persons sniff air containing varying concentrations of some odiferous substance. When half the panel can detect the odor, this constitutes one "odor unit." Presumably, a plant emitting too many "odor units" would be subject to penalties.

Some critics question how scientific such a test is. But as a

Dr. Kenneth M. Evenson, who is chief of a research team at the National Bureau of Standards in Boulder, Colo., presented the new figures at an Optical Society of America meeting in San Francisco.

Employment of an extraordinarily stable infrared radiation from a helium-neon gas laser resulted in the calculations, according to Dr. Evenson.

Any questions?

Supreme Court justice said in another connection, you may not be able to define obscenity but you sure know it when you see it — or in this case, smell it.

NEW BEAUTY SPOT

Way back when, when a smallpox vaccination often left an unsightly scar, a mother asked the doctor to vaccinate her daughter on her thigh where it would never show. Well, hardly ever.

That was before the era of hot pants and miniskirts. It was also before the bikini.

Vaccination marks are no longer a problem. Something else is.

Thanks to the bikini, "a girl does not begin to rate unless she can display a smooth, round, symmetrical depression in her mid-abdomen," writes Dr. Martin Markowitz of Brooklyn, in the "New York Family Physician." He says his first consideration now is with the umbilicus when delivering baby girls.

"I am constantly plagued with the fear that some day a sweet young thing will appear on an exclusive beach, for all the world to see, with a protruding belly button and turn out to have been one of my babies."

Which leads one to wonder what next will be on public display by the time today's baby girls are grown up.

A Man Who Got Things Done

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon was reelected to a second term because he sold the electorate his argument that he was a man who got things done. As it turned out, he didn't have to campaign after all. His deeds spoke louder and more persuasively than George McGovern's impassioned rhetoric.

In foreign policy especially, the voters revealed they were content to have Nixon run on his record. Whatever doubts they may have felt about the cheap and sordid maneuverings for political and personal profit within the administration, they bought Nixon as a known quantity.

It seems clear that the President succeeded in convincing the voters that North Vietnam would never have entered into meaningful peace negotiations had it not been for his door-opening in Peking and Moscow and his decision to bomb the enemy and mine its harbors. The election results reflected agreement that his diplomacy had produced pressure on Hanoi from Red China and the Soviet Union, and his bombing had convinced Hanoi it couldn't win a military victory.

Nixon had other foreign policy goodies in his showcase. They included the initial SALT agreement to cool the armaments race, trade agreements with Peking and Moscow, and the Russian withdrawal from Egypt. Meanwhile, he could remind the electorate that he had withdrawn all but a scattered few of the 450,000 American troops his Democratic opposition had dispatched to South Vietnam.

At the same time, McGovern's foreign policy proposals consisted mainly of attacks on what Nixon had done. They were fuzzy and filled with wishful thinking; sometimes they differed according to the audiences he was addressing. McGovern's charge that Nixon had prolonged the war for political profit probably wasn't fatal because it came, desperately, at a time when the President already had a big lead in the polls, but it must have turned off some of the undecided.

Indeed, it is possible McGovern's argument that his opposition to the war had forced Nixon belatedly to enter into serious "peace" negotiations backfired on the South Dakotan. There was the obvious rebuttal that McGovern's candidacy did the prolonging by suggesting to Hanoi that if it waited long enough a much better deal would be forthcoming from a President named George McGovern.

On the domestic front, the voters apparently decided that although Nixon's record was spotty the changes McGovern would make were a touch too radical for the national taste. Prices were too high, but wage-price controls were in effect and the inflation rate had been cut in half during Nixon's first term. McGovern's guidelines probably were viewed suspiciously as lacking in teeth.

In fact, Nixon probably scored heavily with his attacks on the "spendthrift" Democratic Congress at a time when high taxes were a major issue. Main Street may not be acquainted with all the fine points of government, but it knows that Congress holds the purse strings and that no President can spend more money than is appropriated on Capitol Hill.

There was also the national yearning for domestic tranquility. Nixon had given the public a little peace and quiet and there was the prospect of more to come. Compared with the hard-lining Richard Nixon, George McGovern and his liberal attitude toward dissent and street demonstrations seemed permissive. Nixon was for tougher laws to combat crime; McGovern seemed preoccupied with the less spectacular approach of getting at the root causes of crime. The voters opted for arrests today and studies tomorrow.

Finally, every poll showed that a vast number of voters showed no great liking for either candidate and, indeed, mounting indifference as the campaign drew to a close. The last New York Times-Yankelovich survey of the 16 biggest states told the story when it reported that the line labeled "Neither" won with 37 percent of the vote when those polled were asked which candidate had the more attractive personality. Celebrating his victory, Richard Nixon may find the champagne turning to gall in his mouth as he contemplates the down-putting fact that he was chosen as the lesser of two evils.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

An Argument

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please settle a little argument. Is pneumonia caused only by colds and drafts, or why do elderly patients in a hospital often develop it, although treated for some other illness?

Also, is the cause of appendicitis a neglect to go to the bathroom in time, or what can another reason be? — M. F. Pneumonia is inflammation of the lungs and can be caused by a lot of things. Most usually it is infection from the pneumococcus or some other germ. However, there is such a thing as "viral pneumonia," from various viruses.

Whatever the germ, the pneumonia frequently starts as "a cold." But that doesn't mean that "colds cause pneumonia." It's the germ. Drafts don't cause pneumonia.

There's also such a thing as "chemical pneumonia," caused by irritating chemicals getting into the lungs. As an example, children who swallow poisons including a lot of common household chemicals and vomit the stuff and in the process get some of it into the lungs.

Finally, elderly patients, confined to bed can develop lung congestion known as "static pneumonia." Circulation is sluggish, fluids accumulate. This congested area is a fertile ground for any sort of organisms that can cause pneumonia.

That is why such patients should be gotten onto their feet as soon as possible. If it isn't possible they should be moved or rolled from one side to the other periodically. About appendicitis: bath room "habits" don't cause it. Usually, there is some obstruction within the appendix. Germs work their way in and infection follows:

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please discuss emphysema, what it is, cure, progress, is it fatal? — B. F.

It's a loss of elasticity in the lungs, and a breakdown of the mass of spongy, tiny air sacs, so a person cannot exhale as much "old" air, and thus cannot inhale as much fresh air.

There is no cure, because the lung tissues have been changed physically. Thus the aim is not cure, but to retard the changes and prevent the condition from becoming worse.

Unless the condition can be controlled, yes, it can be fatal. Indeed, it is fatal in altogether too many cases.

Treatment involves a variety of things, first of which is giving up smoking. Medication can be used to loosen phlegm, and to keep the airways open. Proper breathing, to make the most efficient use of the remaining lung capacity, is helpful, and breathing exercises contribute to this. In severe cases, periodic use of oxygen helps.

The disease is important enough to deserve a booklet about it, and I have one available. Send 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "How to Control Emphysema."

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25c in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

PAUL HARVEY

Biggest Ever

What you are about to read is new news relating to the latest election returns.

But it was written a week ago and left in the hands of this newspaper's editor five days before the election.

It is captioned: "Nixon Wins Biggest Ever."

This is not just a "stunt" — predicting the outcome of elections in advance. It is a demonstration that coming events do cast shadows.

Every presidential election since F.D.R. I have written my postelection commentary in advance. All the stations which carry my PAUL HARVEY NEWS telecasts and radio broadcasts and all newspapers which publish the PAUL HARVEY NEWS column receive the commentary five days before the election with instructions to release the text the day after election — no matter what.

It is a calculated risk. The old Literary Digest was embarrassed out of business by guessing wrong just once.

Yet during each election for 24 years — including the so-called Truman surprise of 1948 and the Kennedy-Nixon close one of 1960 — I have continued this practice. Each time the prognosis was correct.

Public opinion pollsters have been humiliated twice.

This game-I-play predates most public opinion polls and is, I think, much more reliable.

Asking questions, the pollsters are likely to get responses mostly from the party-liners.

To hear the decisive voice of the silent majority you travel much, keep your mouth shut and your ears open.

It took less courage to venture out on the limb this year because it was a strong limb.

It is axiomatic that incumbent Presidents are favored unless there is a vigorous protest vote.

This President did not allow that to develop.

It was under Eisenhower that Richard Nixon learned to accommodate without changing direction.

"Pull us together" was more than a campaign slogan; it was the political philosophy which permeated his first four years. McGovern rode through the primary states to Miami on the shoulders of highly vocal antiwar activists.

President Nixon's phase-out sedated them.

And on every domestic front Mr. Nixon surrounded himself with an impenetrable bipartisan phalanx.

ROBERT ALLEN

High Price

WASHINGTON — In Washington, even doing nothing sometimes costs a lot of money.

Take FAP, for example. You remember FAP, the welfare plan under which a working family of four would be guaranteed a minimum of $2,400 a year.

This grandiose scheme, product of five months of work by the Ways and Means Committee, was passed by the House in the summer of 1971. But it was ditched by the Senate Finance Committee which came up with a plan of its own after many months of deliberation only to have it junked by the full Senate in September of this year.

Well, in anticipation that FAP would be enacted by Congress, two government departments spent some $10 million formulating preparations for putting it into operation — all so much wasted effort and taxpayers' money!

This has been brought to light by Sen. Harry Byrd, Ind.-Va., in a fight against an economy crusader, who queried the Secretary of Labor and the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare about the matter. Byrd learned their agencies had spent a lot of money on the non-existent FAP, and he wanted to know why.

Specifically, he asked two key questions:

(1) How much money they had spent in fiscal years 1970-71-72 in support of and in anticipation of the passage of the family assistance program? (2) The number of employees in each of these years whose duties, in whole or in part, were in support of and in anticipation of the passage of FAP?

The replies of Labor Secretary James Hodgson and HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson were eye-openers. As summarized by Sen. Byrd, they revealed the following:

"The figures show that there two departments spent a combined total of almost $10 million during the three fiscal years in planning for the family assistance program. And as of mid-October of this year, 315 employees of the two departments were engaged in work on this plan at a total payroll cost of $493,886 per month."

"It is most regrettable that so much in tax funds was spent in support of this welfare program, which the Senate so justifiably turned down."

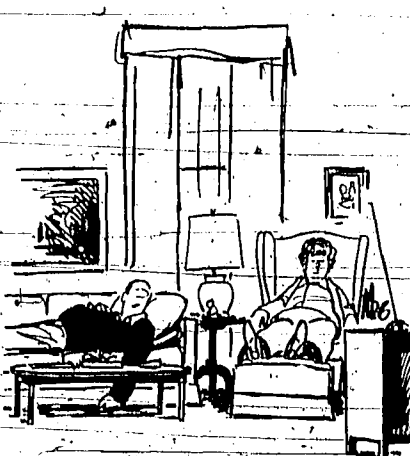

Sen. Byrd was in the forefront of the fight against FAP on a number of grounds — foremost among them:

"Cost of the program would have been at least $5 billion greater than the present welfare system; the number of welfare recipients would have soared from 13 million to 26 million; the Federal government would have had to hire 60,000 new employees to administer the huge plan; it lacked adequate work incentives."

"The Senate's rejection of FAP was a correct decision," says Byrd. "The plan was unsound fiscally and unwise in other ways."

Freighter hits bridge, kills six

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (UPI)—An 11,000-ton freighter was swept by the outgoing tide into a drawbridge lined with waiting cars Tuesday night, plunging about a half-dozen vehicles and their screaming occupants 60 feet into the choppy waters.

Six persons were known dead and authorities said at least five others were missing. The latest victim discovered was a truck driver whose body was found trapped in the cab of his tractor-trailer on the river bottom.

Ten persons, many clinging to life preservers tossed by the crew of the 572-foot freighter African Neptune, were pulled from the swift channel by rescue crews.

Divers searched the 37-foot deep Brunswick River for the four or five cars and a truck believed to have fallen into the river, fearing some victims may have been trapped inside.

The strong current hampered the effort by tugboats to dislodge the African Neptune from the mile-long bridge on U.S. 17, the coastal highway from New York to Florida.

There was no official explanation of how the mishap occurred and Gov. Jimmy Carter, who flew to the scene from Atlanta, said he was seeking an explanation from the captain and pilot of the ship.

Witnesses said the freighter was being pulled by a tugboat when the towline apparently snapped and the big ship drifted into the Sidney Lanier Bridge. Horrified occupants of the cars waiting for the drawbridge to close saw the vessel heading toward the structure.

Someone screamed that the ship was going to hit the bridge," said Police Chief A. L. Luckey. "So they got out of their cars and started running off the bridge." Others sat frozen in terror in the vehicles, he said.

The freighter clipped a 450-foot section out of the bridge, spilling cars into the water.

The African Neptune was built in 1964 and is owned by the Farrell Lines, Inc., of New York. Its overall length is 572 feet and gross tonnage more than 11,000.

Mrs. Mary R. Donald, 21, of Roslyn, Pa., who was returning from a honeymoon trip to Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla., was in one of the cars. Her husband, Albert, 30, was standing beside the car.

"All of a sudden the whole bridge shook and all the cars gave way and the bridge gave way in front of us," she said. "It fell straight down. There was no warning at all."

She fell in the vehicle and was trapped inside momentarily but climbed through a window and clung to a life preserver. She didn't know whether her husband was alive until she heard his voice in a hospital treatment room next to hers.

Another honeymooning couple also was caught in the tragedy. Mrs. Lynne Rooks, 24, of Citrus, Fla., was hospitalized with injuries but her husband was among the missing.

Two members of one family drowned and two other members were missing. The victims were Mrs. Delia C. Johns, 65, of Waycross, Ga., and her grandson, Arthur Johns, 2. The boy's father, Kelly Louis Johns Sr., and another son, Kelly Jr., 3, were missing. The mother, Betty, 25, was hospitalized with injuries.

The other dead were Mrs. Lorraine Vinson, 36, of Savannah, Ga.; her daughter, Veronica, 9, and James F. Johnson, 30, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Glynn County Police Sgt. George M. Young, head of Civil Defense in the area, said early today he had no hope of finding any more survivors.

"I gave up hope after the first hour," he said.

Authorities estimated damage to the bridge at about $1 million and said it would take months to repair it.

Nixon victory 'happy news'

SAIGON (UPI)—Foreign not only for a majority of the Minister Tran Van Lam called American people but also for the re-election of President...the Vietnamese people.

Nixon "happy news" today and said it guaranteed an unchanged U.S. policy on the Vietnam war.

"We are sure we will have a very good friend in the person of President Nixon," Lam said. "I am very happy today," he said. "It is a very happy day."

Lam said the outcome showed conclusively that most Americans support Nixon's policy of "peace with honor."

The Saigon government made no secret of its support for Nixon although it did not officially endorse him.

Demos hold Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fighting off a flood of Republican presidential ballots, Democrats early today milled down continued firm control of Congress.

President Nixon, who had hoped that voters in handing him a historic endorsement would slap a GOP label on the Senate and possibly also the House, instead saw four of his Senate stalwarts turned out and the chamber's Democratic majority strengthened.

In Tuesday's voting Republicans made gains in the House but also took losses, with a net pickup of only 25 per cent of the seats they needed to take charge.

With some races not finally settled, it appeared the makeup of the 93rd Congress, convening Jan. 3, will be:

Senate — 57 Democrats, 43 Republicans. (Currently 55-45).

House — 243 Democrats, 192 Republicans. (Currently 256-179). (One counted with Democrats is John Moakley of Massachusetts' 9th District, who ran as an independent and is expected to vote with Democrats to organize the House.)

While Democratic congressional candidates generally had avoided mention of underdog presidential candidate George McGovern, Republicans had relied heavily on Nixon's coattails to help carry them in.

But so far as most of them were concerned, Nixon might as well have campaigned in shirtsleeves. Ticket-splitting, not counting, was the order of election day.

Pickle voters in Colorado, Maine, Iowa and Delaware, while voting overwhelmingly to give Nixon another four years, refused to give another six to Republican Sens. Gordon Allott, Margaret Chase Smith, Jack

Schmitz concedes but scores trend

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Rep. John G. Schmitz, American Party candidate, gave an untypical concession speech Tuesday night, asserting his party's future was just beginning and that voters have now enthroned an emperor.

"Nixon put us ahead of schedule towards George Orwell's '1984,' faster in four years than anyone I've ever seen," Schmitz told about 300 supporters at the Disneyland Hotel.

"As you can see, this is not a typical speech," Schmitz said, claiming his party had more than 1 million supporters.

"There are 1 million who have not surrendered to all that brainwashing on the boob tube," he said.

He told supporters that the party would place candidates on all 50 state ballots in the next presidential election, compared with the 35 states this time.

Schmitz said as a result of this campaign he saw a whole "subnation of people who refuse to surrender given the same odds that the founding fathers had. No one's going to stop us. We're going to build, build, build. You can't assassinate a party. You can't assassinate a principle."

The congressman criticized the President for his handling of the Vietnam war.

"We do not have a peace move," Schmitz said. "If we had a truth in lending law for politicians, we would call this betrayal, a stab in the back or surrender."

Schmitz told newsmen he would remain the titular head of his party and probably would run again in the next election.

Wife votes

CASTING BALLOT at Anchorage, Alaska, is Mrs. Peggie Begich, wife of missing Congressman Nick Begich. Begich and Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., were aboard airplane which disappeared on flight between Anchorage and Juneau Oct. 16. Early returns showed Boggs leading in re-election bid, while Begich was re-elected. Congress will decide what to do about seating Begich and Boggs if they are not found by Jan. 20. (UPI)

Demos gain statehouse

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats took control of one more statehouse in Tuesday's elections, for a total of 31 governorships, despite President Nixon's massive re-election victory and some unexpected leadoffs.

In 18 gubernatorial contests, Democrats won 11, the Republicans seven. There are 20 Democrat and 12 Republican holdovers, making the new total 31 to 19.

One of the biggest Democrat victories came in Illinois where Daniel Walker, 50, the father of seven, defeated Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, 49, unpopular for imposing the state's first income tax. Nixon won the state handily.

The biggest Democrat disappointment was in West Virginia where John D. Rockefeller IV, 35-year-old multimillionaire scion of the Rockefeller clan, lost to Republican Arch A. Moore, 49, the first West Virginia governor allowed to seek re-election under a constitutional amendment.

Democrats were hoping a Rockefeller victory would push the personable young secretary of state into a position of national prominence. He is married to Sharon Percy, daughter of Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill.

In North Carolina, Republican State Rep. James P. Houshauer, 38, scored a major upset over millionaire Democrat Hargrove "Skipper" Bowles Jr., 53, to succeed Democrat Gov. Robert W. Scott. The state has not had a Republican governor since 1896. But overall, Nixon's coattails were insufficient to wrest the balance of power from the Democrats.

Wallace predicts Democrat comeback

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George Wallace reminded Democrats Tuesday night that he had predicted disaster for a presidential ticket headed by George McGovern.

"I warned them at the Democratic convention they were going to lose the election. The prediction I made has come true. I want to see the party taken back and given back to the average man."

Wearing a gray suit, Wallace twirled his black-rimmed spectacles between a thumb and forefinger and said he wanted to remain active. One hand often straying to the right side of his abdomen where bullets from an assassination attempt entered his body and left him paralyzed from the waist down.

"The great Democratic party of the people will come back," he refused to commit himself for 1976.

"If I decide to get involved in 1976, that's four years from now," Wallace said. He called Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts "a fine man," but added "he's associated with the liberal wing."

Nixon used 'America First' as slogan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon gave the old "America First" slogan new meaning during his campaign. The theme he emphasized more than any other during 31,000 miles of travel through 10 states, and in 15 radio and television broadcasts, in quest of re-election was that the United States should remain the strongest nation in the world.

There simply is nobody else around to protect the interest of the free world, he said; nobody else to provide the balance where an imbalance would be disastrous.

Seeking to project an image as the competent manager of the country's affairs who would not bargain away its interests out of any "naïve sentimentality," Nixon repeated over and over that George S. McGovern's policies would leave the United States at the mercy of its international rivals—chiefly the Soviet Union and China.

"Never send the President of the United States to the bargaining table as the leader of the second strongest nation in the world," he said.

As the world moved from confrontation to negotiation, a strong national defense was needed more than ever; if the United States unilaterally cut its conventional forces, if it failed to go ahead with its nuclear force, then it could not expect to wring similar reductions from the Soviets. That was Nixon's argument.

In short, he said, McGovern's proposal to cut more than $30 billion from the defense budget could not be tolerated. It would represent a "new isolation" in which the United States retreated from its responsibilities and opportunities throughout the world.

It would ruin all the patient diplomacy of the last four years, Nixon claimed—diplomacy which had resulted in chipping away 25 years of isolation from China and achieving the first concrete agreement with the Soviet Union limiting nuclear arms.

Reinforcing this theme was the breakthrough in the negotiations on Vietnam disclosed 10 days before the election. This enabled Nixon to claim that "peace with honor" was imminent, with only the details to be worked out.

He was able to claim that all American prisoners of war and missing in action would be returned without depending on the "good will of the enemy" and that the people of South Vietnam would not have a Communist or a coalition government imposed on them against their will.

It also enabled him to contrast it with McGovern's proposals, which he claimed would give Hanoi all it wanted without gaining any concessions in return.

On election eve, Nixon said the overriding issue in the election was "peace—peace in Vietnam and the broader issue of peace in the world."

This shows how much things have gone his way since last year when he remarked that whoever tried to make Vietnam an issue in the election would have "the rug pulled out" from under them.

EPA sets emission rules

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Environmental Protection Agency has proposed rules that would allow repair or replacement of federally required anti-pollution devices before they run 50,000 miles.

The rules, if put into effect, could mean an automobile owner would face a bill of as much as $150 if the anti-pollution devices should fail to operate properly.

Amendments in 1970 to the federal Clean Air Act required that emissions from 1975 model cars be reduced at least 90 percent below 1972 models over the 50,000 mile lifetime of a car. However, manufacturers have said there is no available anti-pollution device that would last up to 50,000 miles.

The proposed regulations would allow auto manufacturers to replace once during their 50,000-mile tests the "catalytic converter" which most manufacturers say they will use to clean emissions. The converter must last at least 25,000 miles.

The EPA said, however, that manufacturers must make sure that cars will not run better without the devices, so as not to cause drivers to disconnect them or to avoid getting defective equipment repaired.

Manufacturers and others have 60 days to comment on the proposed regulations.

Guru draws crowd

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Teen-age guru Maharaj Ji, called "Lord of the Universe" by his followers, landed at New Delhi's airport Tuesday and was met by 10,000 devotees, some of whom rushed to touch and kiss his feet as he was swept through customs.

The crowd, including some 3,000 young Americans and other foreigners, sang "The Lord of the Universe Has Come to Us," as they waited for the plane carrying their leader to arrive from New York.

Upon his arrival back to his homeland after almost a year and a half mission abroad, the mid-20-year-old was led quickly through customs to a flower-bedecked throne mounted on a Jeep. He then released four white pigeons handed to him by a follower and gave his blessing to all by extending his arms and wringing his heavily-ringed fingers.

Indians in the crowd said thousands of peasants were trucked to the capital city to participate in the welcome.

Followers from abroad paid $40 for round-trip tickets that brought them to India on chartered jets for a three-week pilgrimage.

Before Maharaj Ji's plane arrived, young Westerners in the crowd strummed guitars and sang. An Indian band hired for the occasion played a somewhat incongruous march—"Colonel Bogey"—from the days of British rule.

When he stepped from his plane and was garlanded, Maharaj Ji was hustled to customs where some of his followers knelt and kissed his feet.

Once on his throne, the young guru scattered some flower petals over those persons nearby, released the pigeons and after giving his blessing, was driven away in a gaily decorated Japanese sedan.

Health clamps wage, price freeze on Britain

By PHIL-NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
In clamping a freeze on wages and prices, British Prime Minister Edward Heath has accepted what he regards as a challenge to determine whether Britain is to be run by

Men plan

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Singapore's only family planning clinic for men — so far — has performed 105 vasectomies, says a Family Planning and Population Board spokesman. "The number of vasectomies has increased from six to eight a week to 15 to 20 now," the spokesman said.

the government or the labor unions. Pessimists fear that no matter what the outcome the chief victim will be the British economy.

Heath's action came after marathon sessions with the Trades Union Congress (TUC) and the Confederation of British Industry (CBI) failed to win from labor a promise of voluntary restraint in wage demands.

Just as President Nixon reversed himself in declaring a freeze in August, 1971, Heath also reversed a 1970 election pledge to reduce government interference in the economy.

Heath had sought voluntary agreement to limit wage increases over the next year to about 4 1/2 per cent and retail prices to an average of 5 per cent.

British inflation is now running at about 10 per cent per year and is considered the worst in Europe. The problem goes beyond Britain because as British inflation has increased so has pressure on the British pound which last week hit a low of about $2.33.

Britain is to enter the European Common Market on Jan. 1 and until the value of the pound can be fixed in relation to other countries the market will be unable to put into operation its own program for monetary cooperation among members.

In the last four years, British retail prices have gone up 30 per cent, a condition which British businessmen blame on excessive wage increases, a charge labor denies.

At any rate, the complaining British housewife is paying 20 per cent more for rump steak than she did a year ago. In the last 10 years the price of a three-bedroom house has quadrupled.

In the British economic picture are several apparent contradictions.

Government figures show that wages have been going up by about 17 per cent a year, as compared to retail price boosts of about 8 per cent.

As this has occurred, unemployment has stayed close to the one million mark.

The outward appearance however, is one of prosperity, with demand for luxuries exceeding the supply and prices continuing subsequently to climb.

Among the factors leading to fears the Heath government has not yet found the answer to its problems are these:

—The belief wage and price freeze will not work because British labor will not let it work. The congress of British trade unions declared last September its implacable opposition to a wage freeze, and the result could be industrial chaos.

—Wages and prices are not the only causes of inflation. Another is the printing press money with which the government has been attempting to expand the economy. The money supply has been increasing even faster than inflation with no indication of any change in government policy.

Ford Co. requests increase

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co., turned down an amended price hike request to the Price Commission last September, has reapplied for its original increase.

Ford asked the commission Monday for an average increase of $92 on its 1973 cars and trucks.

The second-largest automaker submitted a request for an average of $59 per vehicle increase in August, but was refused.

Ford said the request includes no provision for profit for the company and its dealers, but covers only the costs of government-mandated safety and pollution-control devices.

General Motors Corp. last Thursday asked for an average of $54, the same figure it submitted and was denied in August. It originally applied for $85 per car.

Marble contest slated

TWIN FALLS — The Kiwanis Club and local YMCA are sponsoring a city-wide marble shooting contest Saturday at the O'Leary Junior High School.

Co-chairmen of the event, Les Talkington and Chuck Upton, said the event would open for registration at 1 p.m. Saturday at the O'Leary athletic area, and competition would begin at 1:30.

The top fourshooters in each grade will receive a ribbon; the co-chairmen said, with each contestant receiving a free bag of marbles for entering.

Special awards will be given to division winners in the senior and junior division.

In case of poor weather, the junior division boys, first through third grade, will shoot their marbles at the Presbyterian Church gymnasium, while the senior division will compete in the O'Leary small gymnasium.

Policy set by board

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Land Board established a policy Tuesday to settle conflict arising from auctioning of cottage site leases.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said it was the first time in state history a conflict application had been filed concerning the value of improvements on a leased cottage site.

Board members decided that if a conflict applicant cannot agree on improvement values within a reasonable time, the board will hire an appraiser to establish values.

Appraisal fees will be covered by a $500 deposit the conflict applicant will give to the state.

The conflict before the board concerned a cottage site at Payette Lakes.

Commissioner Gordon Trombley said, however, that such a conflict could occur whenever an improved cottage site lease is auctioned and the previous lessor is not the successful bidder.

Trombley said that under the Admissions Act Idaho can lease the land for only 10 years at a time.

In other action the board approved an appraisal value of $80,925 for lands the Army Engineers want the state to condemn for big game management to replace winter range inundated by Dworahak Reservoir.

Bittersweet

LONDON, Ky. (UPI)—Tourists and Kentuckians who like to take the bitter with the sweet enjoy slow-paced trips along the Bittersweet Trail, which runs from here to Berea, Ky., in the southeastern corner of the state.

Along the trail are many mountain arts and crafts displays. The name Bittersweet comes from the roadside stands which sell tangy bunches of orange berries.

Weight problem

CANBERRA (UPI)—When the Australian Post Office converts to the metric system in 1973, it will have to install new sets of weights in 14,000 beam balance scales throughout the country.

Wizard returns to US

MIAMI (UPI)—Aging Meyer Lansky, reputed financial wizard of the Mafia's gambling empire, returned to the United States Tuesday and wearily surrendered to FBI agents on tax evasion charges after fruitlessly seeking sanctuary on two continents.

"Yes, I know," the 70-year-old Lansky said quietly when two agents boarded the Braniff jetliner that brought him to Miami and explained they would have to take him into custody.

After being cleared by customs in Miami, he was questioned for nearly two hours at the FBI headquarters and booked on charges of income tax evasion and illegal gambling.

For Lansky it was the end of a 12,700-mile flight that began Sunday when he slipped out of Israel and went in search of a country that would accept him and allow him to remain beyond the reach of U.S. authorities.

He had flown first to Switzerland, then to Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Asuncion, Paraguay, Lima, Peru and Panama City, Panama—but at every turn he found the door barred.

Lansky was chatting with his attorney and agents as he stepped from the Braniff plane, but his wrinkled, drawn face reflected the hours of strain. His blue coat and slacks were travel-rumpled, and his white shirt was open at the neck.

Then, as he walked down the long glassed-corridor to the customs processing area of Miami's International terminal, dozens of photographers snapped his picture from behind the glassed walls.

Lansky, under indictment by grand juries in Miami, New York and Las Vegas for alleged illegal gambling and income tax evasion, went to Israel in 1970 as a tourist, and once there, applied for Israeli citizenship.

He was counting on an Israeli law which allows any Jew to become a citizen unless the courts decide he is a threat to security.

Cough drop big business in US

NEW YORK (UPI)—Few doctors, if any, will concede that cough drops help the common cold, but Americans have been munching them for the last 125 years. Today, they make up a $70 million dollar annual business dominated by Warner Lambert, Vick Chemical Co. and Ludens, Inc.

It all started in the foggy whaling part of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., a Hudson River village where James Smith, a canny Scot from Fifehire, opened a small restaurant and candy store back in 1847. According to legend, Smith got the recipe for a cough candy from a pack peddler named Sly Hawkins in a settlement of a five-dollar board bill.

Smith first cooked the cough candy in five-pound batches in the cellar of his restaurant and marketed it as James Smith's Sons Compound of Wild Cherry Cough Candy. Sales were good because there were many horse throats in the chilly, damp Hudson Valley.

They improved when James died and his sons—the Smith Brothers, William and Andrew—took over the business and put their famous bearded faces on boxes that contained exactly 16 black licorice troches. They eventually bought an old barn on the edge of town and made it into a 26-kettle cough-drop factory. Production soon hit around four tons a day, and the Smith Brothers were on their way to fame and fortune.

That marketing know-how has carried over to the Warner Lambert management. When it decided recently to modernize the package of its Smith

Brothers cough drops, it changed practically everything but the beads. There was some agitation to give the Smith Brothers trade mark mod-stylo beads. But not a hair was touched. "Trade" still has a full short beard; while brother "Mark" has a long, pointed beard which ends about three inches below the left ear lobe.

The last male descendant of the Smith family died in 1902. One year later the name, good will and assets in the boiled candy field were sold to Warner Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. of Morris Plains, N.Y. Operations were switched in June of this year from Poughkeepsie to Rockford, Ill.

Warner Lambert is believed to have 25 per cent of the cough drop market. It also sells the Halls cough drops, Vicks, which lost the number one spot because of Warner Lambert's Menthol-eucalyptus drops which sold well last winter, is in second place, one percentage point off the pace. Ludens has slightly under 20 per cent of the market.

Recycling center goes up

Army unit completes JC center

Italians launch new satellite

TWIN FALLS — Members of the U. S. Army's 15th Engineering Battalion, 9th Infantry Division, Ft. Lewis, Wash., helped complete the storage building for the Twin Falls Jaycees recycling center.

The team from Ft. Lewis is traveling the United States in an effort to recruit men for the army engineers and other units of the army, according to Capt. Pat Williams, company commander.

He said the group is part of the "All Volunteer Army" and that part of their program includes working on community projects wherever they go.

The team will appear in the Burley-Rupert area this week. The schedule of appearances is Minico High School, Tuesday; Burley High School, Wednesday; Paul Shopping Center, Thursday; Burley Shopping Center, Friday and Saturday.

Long wait for result in Diomedea

LITTLE DIOMEDE ISLAND, Alaska (UPI) — It took a special airplane drop to get the ballots to remote little Diomedea Island and the results may not be officially reported until after the president is inaugurated.

But the 37 registered voters will still get their chance to mark their choices in the general election today.

The ballots were dropped to this rocky island just three miles east of Russia's Big Diomedea Island on Oct. 22. The island has no air strip and the last boat of the year left two weeks before the drop.

Radio phone reports to Nome will give unofficial reports of the voting, but the official returns will not be reported until a crossing can be made after the ice freezes on the surface of the Bering Sea.

One election official said that could happen any time from December to January.

Signed up twice, she votes once

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Tricia Nixon-Cox is registered to vote in two places but she cast only one ballot Tuesday for her father.

The president's daughter and her husband, Edward Pincus Cox, voted at Westhampton, Long Island, at 9 a.m. EST and then flew back to the White House. But election records showed she also is registered with her parents in San Clemente.

This fact was revealed when elections inspector Wilma Wallington told the First Lady when she arrived to vote. "Your daughter is also registered here."

Mrs. Nixon hastily changed the subject.

A look at the registration book showed "Miss Tricia Nixon" on the ledger with the registration number AB26104 (R).

The clerks at the Concordia Elementary School where the Nixons voted said that if Tricia had shown up they would have had to refuse her a ballot.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — An Italian crew is preparing to launch an American astronomy satellite off the coast of Kenya to search the sky for sources of a powerful form of cosmic radiation known as gamma rays.

The satellite is expected to produce the first detailed sky map of areas where gamma rays originate. This will help scientists learn more about gamma radiation, which in turn should help answer some of the fundamental questions about stars and the matter in between.

The launch originally was scheduled for Nov. 2, but it was postponed until late next week because of technical problems with the satellite and its slender, American-built Scout rocket.

The offshore launch platform is almost on the equator, which makes it ideal for launching satellites into orbits above the equator. Such an orbit is required for the astronomy satellite to keep it from passing through a high radiation zone above the South Atlantic ocean which would damage the spacecraft's delicate instruments.

An equatorial orbit can also be reached from Cape Kennedy, but it would require a more powerful and more expensive Delta rocket. The 73-foot Scout costs $1.45 million, plus $600,000 in launch costs reimbursed to Italy, and a Delta costs upwards of $4.5 million.

This will be the third launch of an American satellite from San Marco, the name of the launch platform. An X-ray astronomy satellite, named Uhuru which means freedom in Swahili, was orbited in 1970 and a radiation monitoring explorer was launched a year ago.

The new astronomy satellite, which looks like a paddlewheel and weighs 140 pounds, is the first space agency spacecraft since Explorer 11 in 1961 to be devoted exclusively to the study of gamma rays. It will be named Explorer 48 in orbit.

The new satellite's gamma ray telescope will be 10 times more sensitive than any gamma-ray detector previously orbited and the space agency said its operation will represent "a significant step in space astronomy."

Gamma ray astronomy is a comparatively new field and was given high priority for space research in a report published last year by the National Research Council.

Gamma rays, which resemble X rays but have shorter wave lengths, do not reach ground observatories because of the screening effects of earth's atmosphere. But they do penetrate to altitudes of about 120,000 feet and balloons have been used to carry gamma ray detectors.

'Facts of life' come to television

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The facts of life have come to television.

In a single week Mary Tyler Moore spent the night with a man over at CBS. Hal Holbrook played a homosexual in "That Certain Summer" for ABC. And NBC's "The Bold Ones" presented a story of lesbian love in "A Very Strange Triangle."

It was a very strange week. The tube, for better or worse, is exploring areas heretofore reserved for the movies.

Unlike big screen stories, however, the television invasion of sex is unaccompanied by rampant nudity and lasciviousness.

Perry Lafferty, a CBS vice president for programming, says, "These subjects have been explored before. The very fact they were done at all made them unusual."

"Now these stories are being treated in more depth. The shows are not relying on shock value alone. More thoughtful and thought-provoking stories have been the result."

"Dramatic shows have gone much further along the road to maturity than comedy shows. We did an abortion story 10 years ago. And only two years ago we did a homosexual story on 'Medical Center.'"

Yeah, but what about Mary Tyler Moore not getting home from a date until 8:30 in the morning?

"I didn't see that episode," Lafferty said.

Mary Richards, the girl Miss Moore plays in the series, is over 30 years old, single and sexy. When her parents moved to town they checked up on Mary and her boyfriends.

They were horrified last week to discover Mary didn't spend the night in her apartment. Neither did she explain where she had been except to say she had a date.

Did Mary sit up all night writing her memoirs at the office?

Was she visiting a sick friend?

We'll never know. But viewers were led to believe that Mary had indeed spent an entire night in the company of an attractive man somewhere in Minneapolis or even St. Paul.

To regular viewers this was a bit more shocking than two women in love with one another in "A Very Strange Triangle" or the two men in love with one another in "That Certain Summer."

Adults are aware that homosexuality exists. But shows handled the subject delicately. "Also both shows came on an hour when youngsters were in bed."

But Mary Tyler Moore spending an entire night in the company of a man is a shocker. It may be a first in situation comedy. Even the lowbrow halfwits of "All in the Family" don't do those things.

Just as surely as Mary Pickford was America's Sweetheart, Mary Tyler Moore is the Viewers' Sweetheart. And now she's gone and broken a lot of hearts.

If that's how television faces the facts of life, it's going to sadden a lot of men who hold with Victorian morality.

Gambler to stake life in river run

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — World poker champion "Amarillo Slim" Preston has done battle with some of the slickest card players in a quarter century but dueling a raging river is something new. He bet $30,000—and his life—that he can win.

No one is predicting his chances of survival at this early date, but Preston seemed sincere Monday, insisting he would live through a wintertime run down Idaho's River of No Return. Aboard a rubber raft. He'll attempt it between Nov.

15 and Dec. 15, he said.

"Hasn't anybody ever tried a fool thing like that before," Preston said, shifting his 9-gallon pearl gray stetson down over his eyes.

"But a bet is a bet," the rail-thin Texan said.

Preston, who gained a measure of national acclaim hauling in a mountain of $100 chips to win the world poker title in Las Vegas in June, said his Texas fast-talking, talents "mouse-trapped" him into the strangest bet of his career.

The bet began merely as conversation between card players late September at a Las Vegas casino. Preston said he regaled his opponents with the tale of how he and his son, Tad, 8, survived a spill while rafting down the Boise River, also in Idaho.

"But this one feller," Slim said, "he had to get smart. 'If you want to kill your fool self,' he says to me, 'why don't you just take a gun?' so naturally I blabbed a little back at him as a feller will."

It wasn't long before the high-rolling poker artist coyly suggested that Slim could make some big money if he rafted down the churning Middle Fork of the Salmon River.

A colorful history of tragedy and thrills down the 65-mile stretch of white water has earned it the title, "River of No Return."

"Why, neighbor, that'd be some whale of a trip for most fellers, but I'd be just a little minkow for me," Slim recalls boasting in a rich southwestern twang.

In an hour the bets were down.

Monday, he flew from his Amarillo, Tex., home to purchase special cold water rafting gear, including double thick wetsuits for him and a partner.

Preston's opponents one rule of the bet, simple yet merciless—the Texan can have one other man aboard with him but they cannot accept aid on the water or from the river banks.

"I'm a betting man, but I am not a fool. I think I can make it," the Texan grinned.

Hall wins sheriff race in Jerome

JEROME — Republican Elza Hall won a five-way race for sheriff in Jerome County Tuesday.

Hall polled 2,317 votes, almost double the total for his nearest contender, Jerome City Police Chief Howard DuBois, a write-in candidate. DuBois had 1,069 votes. Hall will succeed retiring Sheriff James B. Burns in January.

The other aspirants were Democrat Foley Asher with 908, and write-in candidates Paul Whaley with 437 and Jack Parrott with 57.

Jerome County voters also backed Republican President Richard M. Nixon in his reelection bid; supported Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, in his successful bid for the U.S. Senate, and Rep. Orval Hansen in his reelection.

Three of the Idaho constitutional amendments of the nine on the ballot were approved by Jerome voters.

On the national ticket Nixon drew 3,661 votes to Democrat Sen. George McGovern's 888; McClure had 3,135 to Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis' 1,505; and Hansen received 3,547 votes to 1,069 for Democrat Willis Ludlow.

In Legislative District 23 — which also includes Gooding and Lincoln counties — Republican James A. Yost received 2,391 votes to 2,109 for incumbent Democrat Don G. Fredericksen in the state senate race.

In the state representative race, Republicans Earl C. Greenawalt had 3,333 and Vernon F. Ravenscroft had 3,505, to 1,186 for Democrats Leo Rice and 913 for Anna Louise Robison.

John L. VanOrman, Republican, was re-elected county commissioner from the second district with 2,676 votes. Democrat Keith Johansen polled 2,004. Milford Jones Republican, was elected to the county commission with 3,838 votes. He was unopposed.

Also unopposed in his bids for re-election were Virginia Ricketts, clerk of the district court, 3,974; Eugene Fredericksen, prosecuting attorney, 3,819; and Dr. L. M. Neher, coroner, 3,676. All are Republicans.

County officials said the turnout of more than 4,000 voters was more than 85 per cent of the registration of 5,800.

Winning approval in Jerome County were three constitutional amendments: SJR 132, the state government reorganization; SJR 124, requiring children between ages 6 and 18 to attend public school unless excused by law; and HJR 63, requiring clear marking of non-voting stock shares.

SJR 132 was approved 2,122 to 1,753; SJR 124 was approved 2,194 to 1,945; and HJR 63 was approved 2,381 to 1,577.

Results of voting for other amendments included SJR 101, 1,849 yes, 4,646 no; SJR 112, 1,509 yes, 2,724 no; SJR 118 936 yes, 3,240 no; HJR 35, 1,636 yes, 2,571 no; HJR 73, 1,973 yes, 2,067 no; HJR 52, 1,469 yes, 2,807 no.

Hall said, "It's been a long, hard race and I want to thank all of the people of Jerome County for their fine support in this election. I will do my best to serve the people of this county to the best of my ability. I would like to thank the Republican Party for the hard work and support during the campaign."

Hall said he plans to add another man and car to the sheriff's department; to ask for a woman dispatcher, in the office.

Shoshone aide resigns

SHOSHONE — Shoshone City Treas. R. W. Grove has tendered his resignation effective Dec. 31.

The City Council accepted the resignation Tuesday night.

Grove has served as city treasurer since May, 1949. He served as city clerk from December, 1942, until April 1944, and again from March, 1946 to 1947.

He also is in the real estate and insurance business and is retiring at the end of the year from private business — as well as his city position.

The city has not selected a new treasurer as yet.

In other business Councilman Paul Jacobson reported the McFall Hotel will continue a 24-hour-a-day telephone service for the fire department at a cost of $50 per month, an increase from the previous $30 per month.

Receipts from the magistrate court as the city's share of costs and fines was $69.75 for the past month. A letter was received from the director of the Bureau of Plant Industry informing the city they are responsible for the control of noxious weeds within the city limits.

Another letter informed the city after Jan. 1, it will not be legal to burn old car bodies. The Idaho Department of Highways has solicited the city's assistance in collecting 50 old cars prior to that date for burning and crushing to be sold for scrap metal.

Bar tender licenses were issued to Diana Williams, Margaret Smith and Dorothy Curtis. The council authorized Boyd Alexander, fire chief, to employ two additional volunteer firemen if needed. This brings the department to 12 men for fire fighting.

Building permits were issued to Joe Oneda for reroofing a home and construction of a two-car carport; Theron Anderson for a new home in the Mott addition, southeast part of the city; Charles Oneda, a patio and storage shed; and Frank Taylor, for remodeling and enclosing a front porch.

ORVILLE DREXLER Blaine sheriff

C. W. GARDNER re-elected

Democrats top Blaine voting

HAILEY — Sheriff Orville Drexler, a Democrat, defeated Republican Dennis L. Haynes, 2,077 to 1,332 and won his third term as Blaine County sheriff.

Gardner, an incumbent appointed to the second district commission seat following the death of John Fox in a farm accident earlier this year, defeated Republican Russ L. Horn. Gardner, a Democrat, polled 2,781 votes to Horn's 525.

Blaine County voters also backed a statewide trend, favoring Dr. William E. (Bud) Davis over Republican Rep. James A. McClure in his bids for the U.S. Senate. Davis, a Democrat, polled 1,859 votes to 1,504 for McClure.

Democrat Willis Ludlow also ran well in his bid for Congress, with 1,174 votes. But Republican incumbent Rep. Orval Hansen carried the county with 2,029 votes.

In presidential balloting,

Republican Richard M. Nixon received 2,113 votes; Democrat Sen. George McGovern, 1,240; John G. Schmitz of the American Party, 77. Dr. Benjamin Spock 9 and Linda Jenness 3.

American Party candidate for senator, Jean L. Stoddard, had 14 votes. John Thiebert, that party's congressional candidate, had 10.

In state legislative races in district 21, Republican incumbent John Peavey led Democrat W. F. (Bill) Whitton 1,964 to 1,321 in their Senate battle; and incumbents Steve Antone and E. V. McLean — both Republicans — led Democrat Robert R. Guffy. Antone had 1,911 votes, McLean 1,555 and Guffy, 1,479.

Democrat Ray Sweet was elected to the county commission without opposition with 2,329 votes. Marie Ivie, Democrat, was re-elected clerk of the district court, with 2,811 votes. And Bruce Rathke, Hailey, led the write-in balloting for coroner with 188 votes, far ahead of any other.

Mills gets Lincoln post

SHOSHONE — Ward Mills, Republican, defeated William Kerner Tuesday to win the Lincoln County commissioner post in the first district.

It was the only contest on the local level. The two men, both political newcomers, were seeking the seat vacated by Burrell Williams, Republican, who received 308 write-in votes, even though he was not a candidate.

In uncontested county offices, F. Chatfield pulled 1,408 votes for second district commissioner; Bill Anderson, 1,339 for sheriff, and Dr. R. G. Neher, 1,251, coroner. All are Republican.

Howard E. Adkins, incumbent, polled 858 on the Democratic ticket for reelection as prosecuting attorney. He was unopposed.

Voters in Legislative District No. 23 favored James A. Yost, Republican, over Don G. Fredericksen, Democrat, 598 to 463 for state senator.

Republicans Earl C. Greenawalt received 748 and Vernon F. Ravenscroft, 880, over their Democratic opponents, Leo Rice, 238, and Anna Louise Robison, 234, for the two state representative posts.

In Legislative District 21, John Peavey, Republican, polled 210 compared to 90 for William Whitton, Democrat, for state senator, and Steve Antone and E. V. McLean, Republicans, polled 210 and 258 for the state representative seats, while the lone Democratic opponent, Robert Guffy, received 77.

Lincoln voters gave President Nixon 1,120 to 313 for George McGovern; James McClure, 939 to 512 for William Davis; Orval Hansen, 419, and Willis Ludlow, Democrat, 367, representative in Congress.

Peavey wins Minidoka race

ROBERT — In the most heavily contested race in Minidoka County, incumbent Republican John T. Peavey took a heavy lead over his Democratic challenger, W. F. (Bill) Whitton for the state Senate.

Republican Peavey, district 21, polled 3,643 votes in Minidoka County to 1,951 for Whitton. Republicans also walked away with the other races in the frequently Democratic voting county.

In the state representative contest, Democrat Robert R. Guffy was squeezed out by Republicans Steve Antone with 3,956 votes and E. V. McLean, 2,943. Guffy polled 1,232 votes.

On the county level, Republican commissioners Elmer Ketterling, first district with 3,407 votes and Lyle Barton, 3,163 were elected over Democrats Harold Ingram, 2,168 votes and Lloyd Knodel, 2,292 votes.

Unopposed Republicans elected included Robert M. Nielsen, prosecuting attorney, 4,456; sheriff, Theo Johnson, 4,634, and coroner, Robert C. Walk, 4,798.

Voters cast 1,007 ballots for Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew to 1,423 for George McGovern and Sargent Shriver and 402 for John G. Schmitz and Thomas Anderson, American Party in the presidential race.

Other contests included: U. S. Senate, Republican James McClure, 3,393, and Democrat William E. (Bud) Davis, 2,344 and Jean L. Stoddard, American Party, 134; U. S. Representative, Republican Orval Hansen, 4,105, Democrat Willis Ludlow, 1,302, and American Party John L. Thiebert, 144.

Baldwin wins Camas election

FAIRFIELD — Except for one county commission race, Republicans made a clean sweep in Camas County Tuesday.

L. W. Baldwin, Democratic incumbent county commissioner, was re-elected in the first district with 260 votes to 293 for his Republican opponent, William F. Stewart.

In the legislative races, Camas County voters favored Republicans Virgil L. Kraus and Charles Lee Barron in the state representative race in District 22. Kraus polled 217 votes and Barron 307. Democrat votes included 142 for Karl E. Koch and 112 for Alvin W.

Joslin.

In the state senate race in district 22, Republican J. Wilson Steen polled 297 votes and Democrat Howard K. Fleming, 131.

At the top of the ballot, Camas voters gave the McGovern-Shriver team 95 votes to 344 for Republican Nixon and Agnew with 24 votes going to American Party candidates Schmitz and Anderson.

In the U.S. Senate race, Democrat, William E. Davis received 171 votes and Republican James A. McClure 284 with American Party candidate Jean L. Stoddard getting 7.

For U.S. Congress, Willis Ludlow, Democrat, polled 108 votes; Republican Orval Hansen, 338, and American Party John L. Thiebert, 6.

Uncontested Republican county candidates included Sheriff Paul E. Cox, 336; Prosecuting Attorney Robert G. Newhouse, 293, and Dwight Osbornes, first district county commissioner, 344.

Saxvik elected to second term

HAILEY — Robert Saxvik was re-elected to a second term in the Idaho Senate Tuesday by Cassia County voters.

The Democratic incumbent defeated Dr. Charles Terhune, a retired physician, in a close race by a vote of 3,135 to 3,065.

The other legislative incumbents, Republicans J. Vard Chatburn and Ernest A. Hale also retained their seats in the House, polling 3,779 and 3,319 over Democrats William H. McKean with 1,119 and Clarence A. Parr, 2,930.

Unofficial results from the district's 24 precincts which includes all of Cassia County, show J. Weldon Heck, 5,619, for first district county commissioner, John A. Clark, 5,477, second district commissioner; Gordon S. Nielson, 5,474, prosecuting attorney; Ray G. Mitchell, 5,823, sheriff; and Roger B. Porter, 5,287, coroner. All are Republicans.

Ketchum law set for council

KETCHUM — Planning and zoning in Ketchum will be revamped and updated with a new city ordinance, scheduled to go before the City Council Dec. 30.

During a meeting Monday night, the council adopted a public hearing, and publication schedule as outlined by Ed Heap, chairman of the Ketchum Planning and Zoning Commission.

Products of about two years work by the commission, the new ordinance and accompanying map are intended to meet required changes in the original 1965 ordinance, Heap said.

Additions under the new ordinance include a general residential low and a general residential high district as well as business, shopping, and business highway-oriented districts.

The commission chairman said that petitions for variances will be decided by the commission, with appeals made to the council, to eliminate "politics and pressure."

In response to a question from Councilwoman JoAnn Algiers, Heap said the ordinance did not contain a provision for design and review because its inclusion would delay consideration of the ordinance for about two months. After passage of the ordinance, such a provision will be submitted to the council, he said.

Heap set publication of the ordinance for Nov. 16, 23 and 30. The commission will conduct formal hearings on Dec. 7 and 11 and public information and discussion meetings were scheduled for Nov. 22 and 29.

In other action, a list of needed equipment for the fire department was submitted to the council for their consideration by William Brand, a volunteer fireman and Tom McMahon, head of a Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce committee, formed to urge department improvement.

Council fire commissioner Glenn Branden said he felt that "immediate corrections have been taken care of" and that "we can budget money along if we know we have got the support of the people."

Brand began a fund of private donations to be used for basic department equipment.

Brand backed two proposals listed, including hiring a fulltime chief and additional reimbursement for the volunteers. The rural fire district has agreed to a loan to the department and a requested 2,500 gallon tanker truck "is being worked on," Branden said.

In fire protection problems outlined the council, McMahon said that one fire hydrant existed at the Hemlockway Grade School, but that it had not been installed as yet.

Without hose drying facilities, McMahon said that hose had been re-rolled into the truck after a fire. Linen hose especially rote very fast if it is not dried, he said.

"We have not one iota of assurance that the hose will carry water," McMahon said. Under those circumstances, he said "the firemen would just become spectators."

The committee chairman said he also "strongly objected to the danger the city of Ketchum subjected the firemen to "without one item of safety equipment."

Branden said that "up to this year the council has not received additional requests for the department." But he said with continued public interest that he felt the money can be obtained.

In favor of a fulltime chief, the committee's proposals said a chief was necessary to conduct weekly checks of equipment and to properly maintain the fire trucks.

The committee also recommended that the city look into a joint agreement with the city of Sun Valley for the chief's salary and that routine drills be conducted with the other department.

Other requests included a 2,000 to 2,500 gallon tanker to fight fires in the rural district and areas of Ketchum without a central water system as well as upping firemen's reimbursement for drills and calls to Sun Valley's payment level.

The committee also proposed that a "larger, more adequate" fire station be constructed, perhaps combining the city hall, police station and the city repair garage, on the site of the present city garage.

Fifty per cent funding of the building may be available through the Office of Civil Defense, the committee stated.

Jerome baby injured in fall

JEROME — A 9-month-old Jerome baby is being treated at Children's Hospital, Salt Lake City, Utah, after falling head first into a toilet bowl yesterday.

Nicholas Wollard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grunt Wellard, was apparently playing in the bathroom at the time of the accident.

Jerome Police officials said that apparently his head was under water for some time before his parents discovered him. He was given artificial respiration by his father and was rushed to St. Benedict's Hospital where he was given emergency treatment for over an hour. During the emergency treatment, his heart stopped once.

The boy was in and out of a coma yesterday and the attending physician advised transferring him to children's Hospital for more detailed treatment.

Brazil arrests gang

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Police sources said Tuesday formal judicial procedures will begin Wednesday against nine suspected members of the Union Corse and Mafia who were arrested recently in a crackdown on heroin traffic and smuggling operations centered in Brazil.

The United States, France, Italy, and Morocco have reportedly asked for extradition of some of the suspects, but diplomats in Brazil have declined comment on the reports.

The leader of the narcotics operation, according to police reports, was Christian Jacques David, who is a reputed member of the Union Corse underworld organization that operates in Corsica and France. He is wanted in both France and the United States on various charges.

David and the other suspected, sources said, are being held in a military barracks for extra security.

The others have been identified as Michel Nicole, Claude Andre Pastou, Francois Antoine Canazzi, and Robert Bordolau, all reputed Union Corse members, and Tomasso Buscetta, Guglielmi Cazzalini, Robert Bordolau, and Lelio Paulo Gigante, who are reportedly affiliated with the Mafia.

Elkhorn project readied

SUN VALLEY—Construction is progressing rapidly toward completion on the first phase of the new Elkhorn at Sun Valley recreation community.

It is located in a scenic, mountain-surrounded valley near Idaho's world-famous Sun Valley resort.

Jack Marshall, Elkhorn general manager, said that activity has been accelerated to ready the project for its premier winter season.

Respect and restraint in use of the land has dictated all of the planning for the new 2,300-acre, $36 million resort community, which is being developed by subsidiary companies of Johns-Manville Corp. and Sun Valley Co., according to Marshall.

Less than 400 acres will be developed with the balance remaining in an open or natural state, Marshall pointed out.

New construction is being nestled onto the floor of Elkhorn Valley, leaving the surrounding natural amphitheater totally untouched. All construction is taking place on natural contours or grades of 15 per cent or less.

Marshall said nearly $7 million has been invested this year in connection with the first phase of Elkhorn Village.

Structures include buildings to house the village restaurant, shops and services, 134 condominiums, ice rink, triple chair ski lift up Dollar Mountain, bell tower, landscaping and 18-hole golf course. The golf course is scheduled to be ready for play in summer, 1974.

Marshall described the architecture of Elkhorn as reminiscent of the non-symmetrical arrangements which give the alpine villages of Europe a natural charm. The varied design mix includes tall, uneven silhouettes, irregular roof lines, and gently curving streets.

Buildings are situated to provide a view of the mountains in every direction, and several picturesque small lakes add to the rural atmosphere. An accelerated program is now underway at Elkhorn to complete landscaping and finish paving the streets in the first phase of the village.

China expert to speak in Burley

BURLEY—Don Elbright will be the next Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club speaker, announced club officials.

Elbright will be at 7 p.m. Monday in the Burley Elks Lodge dining room.

The subject of the Elbright address will be "Ring Around Red China." Elbright said he feels this is the topic preferred now because of the importance of Red China at this minute.

Dr. Elbright, who got his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago, has been "seeing the world" for almost 20 years. He has lived in India and in South and Southeast Asia. He has visited and re-visited Red China and is a leading authority on the aims and ambitions of that nation's leaders.

Dr. Elbright has had first hand experience with "Red" terror, for he was director of refugee relief in India in 1948-52 when the Kazak and Turk refugees fled from Communist persecution in Sunking. He set up the first relief camps in Kashim for the Central Asians. He was there during the Communist conquest of Tibet. More recently, Dr. Elbright again visited Red China and it will be the current observations based on the history of the past that he will project to his audience Nov. 13 at Burley Elks Lodge.

Cabinet changes set for Nixon administration

WASHINGTON (UPI)—After four years of relative stability, the second Nixon administration will bring changes in the membership of the cabinet, beginning with a new secretary of Defense.

Melvin R. Laird has said he will leave the Pentagon on Inauguration Day, Jan. 20. Almost as certain to depart early in President Nixon's second term is George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

A replacement is likely for Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson and Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst also may be on the way out.

Administration sources said cabinet changes are virtually certain but final decisions have not yet been made.

Of the 11 cabinet posts, four were unchanged during Nixon's first four years. Only one department, treasury, had as many as three secretaries. The rest had two.

John B. Connally who quit as Treasury secretary to lead Democrats for Nixon may rejoin the cabinet next year.

Others who may figure in the new cabinet include Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York; George Bush, ambassador to the United Nations; and Clark MacGregor, who quit as Nixon's chief congressional lobbyist to become the President's campaign manager.

Former Navy Secretary John Chafee and former Postmaster General Winton Blount are other possibilities. Both resigned from the administration to run unsuccessfully for the Senate.

Tightened import controls may bring beef price drop

By BERNARD BERENSON
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. cattle producers might see their prices drop in the long run if they succeed in pressuring the government into tightened import controls on beef, an Agriculture Department study indicates.

The study, prepared by economists in the Economic Research Service (ERS) was released here as administration officials prepared for a decision within the next few months on import control policy for 1973.

Last summer, President Nixon lifted all beef import restrictions for the remainder of 1972. Unless the government continues this policy, which would draw bitter protest from cattle producers — the logical move for 1973 would be a return to the "voluntary" import control system in use until last June.

This would call for a series of agreements with exporting countries limiting their shipments to the United States to a fixed level. The ERS study said a turn toward slightly more restrictive import control policies would reduce beef imports modestly but might, by the end of the current decade, result in slightly lower prices for domestic cattle.

Economists said a tightened import policy, with shipments initially cut about 100 million pounds a year from the current level of nearly 1.3 billion pounds, would have little significant impact on domestic cattle prices for the first few years.

The impacts of increased domestic production and smaller imports would just about offset each other, experts said.

In the middle of the decade, further small reductions in supplies of manufacturing-grade beef would push prices for fed cattle — the type which produce fresh cut like steaks and roasts — up slightly from current levels, the analysis continued.

But by 1978-80, the ERS said, the pendulum would shift. Improved steer prices would stimulate rebuilding of cattle herds at a rapid rate; and U.S. production of both fed and manufacturing-type beef would bring steer prices down about $1.50 per hundredweight.

The theoretical study said complete elimination of all beef imports would bring domestic cattle prices down about $1.84 per hundredweight by the end of the decade by spurring U.S. production.

If beef imports were allowed to double in another theoretical "model" studied, U.S. cattle prices would decline $3.23 per hundredweight by 1978-80, the study indicated.

Dairy testing results told

TWIN FALLS — Twenty-nine herds with 2331 cows were on production testing in October in the Twin Falls County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

According to Don Youtz, Twin Falls County agent, the testing supervisors were Ed Lynch, Kimberly and Helen Slatter, Fijer. Youtz said that the 29 herds totalled 2007 cows milking and 324 dry cows.

Production averages for October, listing number of cows milking, total cows, average daily milk production and average daily butterfat production as follows:

Everett Andrews & Sons, Filer, 52, 62, 33.4 and 1.15; Bingham Dairy, Twin Falls, 84, 99, 44.6 and 1.46; Gary Custer, Twin Falls, 97, 101, 41.7 and 1.35; John & Barbara Cothern, Buhl, 67, 74, 28.5 and 1.02; Dalton Dairy, Kimberly, 78, 91, 34.9 and 1.12; Gaylord Drown, Filer, 58, 64, 41.4 and 1.36.

Water awards planned

BOISE — Idaho water use awards will be conferred during a dinner in Boise on Nov. 30. The awards to individuals and firms will be made by the Idaho Water Users Association and the First Security Bank. Jack A. Barnett, executive director of the association, said:

"The 'water guardian' award winner will be chosen by a panel of volunteers from throughout Idaho. Members include John Hockberger, Caldwell, chairman; Boyd Baxter, Boise; Richard Biel, Burley; Roy Stroschein, Sterling; Lynn Loush, Ashton and Virgil Temple, Rupert.

Development and utilization of water resources and beneficial use of the state's water will be key factors in selection of award recipients.

Wheat crop record set

SPOKANE, UPI — The 1972 wheat crop reached an all time high of 125,920,000 bushels as of Oct. 1, the Burlington Northern Railroad reported Monday.

The BN said the high production and prices ranks Washington third in the nation as a wheat producer.

The BN reported the state's apple harvest is now complete. Production totaled 34.5 million boxes, or about 674,000 tons, of apples.

The potato harvest indicates a three per cent drop in production from the 1971 crop, officials said.

Farm

TF Farm Bureau sets convention

TWIN FALLS — The annual Twin Falls County Farm Bureau convention is set for 9 p.m. Thursday in Twin Falls.

Gene Walker, county Farm Bureau president, said the convention meeting will include a pot luck dinner. The meeting will be at the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau office on Addison Ave. in Twin Falls.

Walker said a new slate of officers will be elected at the meeting. County resolutions being sent to the Idaho Farm Bureau Convention Nov. 14 in Coeur d'Alene will be discussed, he said. A new budget for 1973 will be discussed also, Walker said.

The meeting is open to all Farm Bureau members and wives, Walker said.

3-state exports pact set

TWIN FALLS — A tri-state agreement "designed to expand the export of processed potato products to Hong Kong" over the next two years has been approved this week by the Idaho Potato Commission.

Commissioners Jim Henry and Mel West, Twin Falls, said the commission's action is part of a long-range plan to create a new foreign markets for Idaho potatoes, "particularly" in the populous Far East.

"Idaho will contribute about $5,000 to the Hong Kong project, which is about half the total cost," Henry and West said.

Washington and Oregon, the other two states involved, will put an amount approximately equal to Idaho's donation, they explained.

"Funds for the project will be contributed on a production basis," Henry and West said.

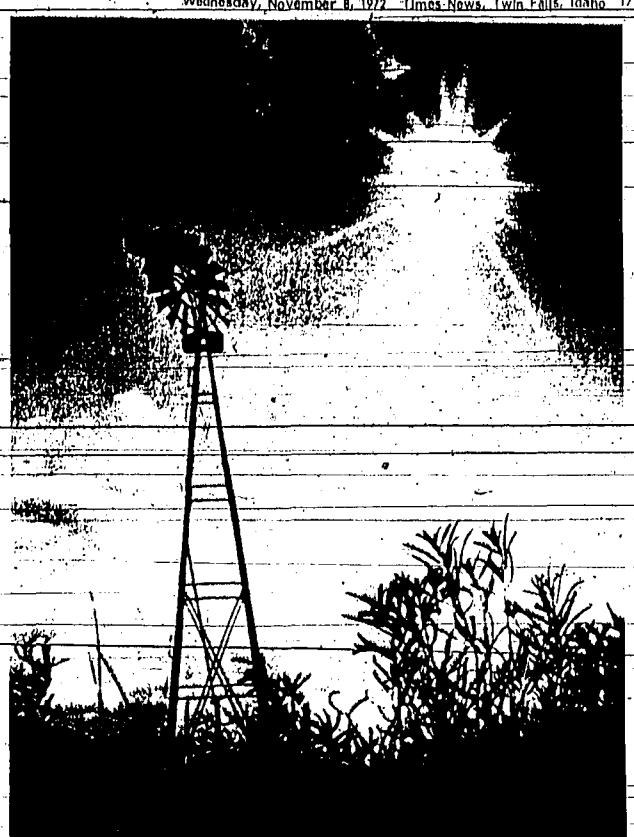

The commission elected J. Wray Connolly of Boise, as its new vice chairman. He succeeds Robert Mercer, formerly of Shelby.

Henry and West said the tax structure committee will meet in Boise Nov. 20 and the certification, container and identification committee will convene Nov. 14 in Pocatello.

Produce Prices

Ex-broker draws fraud case penalty

SPOKANE, UPI — Former Copper Inc., Trans-Pacific Resources Inc., and Big West Resources, Inc.

Foraker has been fined $2,000 and sentenced to a suspended five year sentence for his participation in a fraudulent stock scheme.

Foraker was one of three men indicted in April by a federal grand jury on charges of fraudulently selling securities which defrauded investors in 11 states and one Canadian province of more than $370,000.

Earlier this year Foraker pleaded guilty in Federal District Court to one count of selling unregistered securities and Monday Federal District Judge Charles L. Powell imposed the sentence.

Foraker and the others were charged with selling unregistered securities in three corporations — Nevada Tungsten and

Bench takes MVP, eyes chance to equal record

NEW YORK (UPI)—Johnny Bench, the first player ever to win the National League's "Most Valuable Player" award twice by the age of 24, now has an excellent chance of becoming the first player ever to win the award more than three times.

Bench, the Cincinnati Reds' slugger who won't be 25 until Dec. 7th, received the award for the second time in three years Tuesday by a surprisingly easy margin over Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs and Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bench, who slumped to a .238 average in 1971 after easily winning the MVP honors in 1970 when he hit .203 with 45 homers and 148 RBIs, isn't making any predictions.

"I don't set any personal goals except to hit 30-35 homers with 100 RBIs," Bench said, "I figure if I do that well, the learn has a good chance to win."

But with two MVP plaques already on his trophy shelf at age 24, he has to rate a good shot of doing it three times in his career and a better than average chance of becoming the first man ever to win four.

Only Stan Musial and Roy Campanella have won the award three times in the National League. Jimmy Fox, Joe DiMaggio and Yogi Berra are the only three time winners in the American League.

Musial was 25 when he won his second MVP in 1948 and he won his third won two years later. Campanella was 29 when he won it the first time in 1951 but he added two more in the following five years. Of the American League three-time winners, Fox was the youngest when he won his second one at age 25 in 1933.

Another factor in Bench's favor is the fact that he's on the threshold of becoming the glamor player of the '70s. The voting was supposed to be close since Williams, who is a consistent player but doesn't get much publicity, had impressive statistics.

Williams led the majors with a .333 average to Bench's .270 mark. Bench led the majors in homers and RBIs with 40 and 125 but Williams was right on his heels with 37 and 122. Williams led Bench in runs 95-87, hits 191-145 and doubles 34-22.

Willie Stargell, who was in the running with a .293 average and 39 homers and 132 RBIs, also said he felt Williams should be the winner. And while Bench did lead his club to the pennant, his vote total was supposed to be diluted because some of the Cincinnati votes were split for Joe Morgan.

But despite all these factors, it wasn't close. Bench received 11 first place votes to five for Williams and had a 263-211 point lead in the balloting of the 24 writers—two from each league city. Stargell was third with two first place votes and 201 votes. Morgan got five first place votes and was fourth with 197 while Steve Carlton, the Cy Young award winner, got the only other first place vote and came in fifth with 124 points.

The easy Bench victory in a year when another player had comparable statistics shows that in any tight race in the future, he'll have the edge. Of course, Bench also has the talent for the super years that produce legends. In 1970 with his 45 homers and 148 RBIs, Bench received 22 of the 24 first place votes for 326 points while Williams was a distant second with two first place votes and 218 points.

A total of 29 players received votes but Joe Torre, who won last year over Stargell in a controversial selection, didn't receive a vote this year. Bench and Stargell were the only players to be mentioned on all 24 ballots. One writer—left Williams off his ballot.

The award obviously meant more to Bench this time after last year's slump than it did in 1970 when it was taken for granted that he would win. "I was just thrilled to be selected," he said, "it's the greatest thing that can happen to me. If we'd won the World Series, this would have been the icing on the cake. But this will make the winter a lot better."

Bench admitted, "I felt I had it won in 1970 all along. There wasn't any doubt in my mind."

But then everything went wrong in 1971 when he hit only 27 homers and 61 RBIs.

"Everybody conceded I was going to be a great player and I think I lost a little concentration. I didn't bear down as much as I should have in spring training. When this season rolled around, I knew I was going to have to bear down. I put all the concentration in my work," he said.

"After last season when I heard everything about how bad I was and all, truthfully, it's very sweet to be able to come back," he said.

Bench said he felt he was helped by the switch to the outfield in August when he broke his finger because he "felt strong" when he went back to catching at the end of the season.

Bench said his teammates "deserve a lot of the credit for the award." He added, "when you've got guys like Morgan, Bobby Tolan, who made such a great comeback, and Pete Rose in front of you and Tony Perez behind you, the pitchers can't pitch around you."

Forward Ollie Taylor and guard Larry Miller each had 24 points for San Diego. Bill Melchioni paced the Nets with 20 points followed by George Carter and Jim Chones with 16 apiece.

Alabama-LSU leads off 'big game' slate of grid season

By DAVID MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer

The excitement is rising to a fever pitch in Birmingham, Ala., where the first of this fall's top four college football games—Alabama vs. Louisiana State—will be played Saturday afternoon.

The nationally televised contest (4 p.m. EST) pits two teams with perfect records battling for the Southeastern Conference championship and a probable Orange Bowl date with the winner of the Nov. 23 Nebraska-Oklahoma game.

The other two big games—Southern California-UCIA on Nov. 18 and Michigan-Ohio State Nov. 25—will fill the Rose Bowl berths.

The 3rd-ranked Alabama Crimson Tide, which lost to Nebraska in the last Orange Bowl, has won 19 straight regular season games, including a 14-7 decision last year at LSU and figures as the favorite, especially since the game will be played on Legion Field's polyturf.

But 6th-ranked Louisiana

State, which hasn't lost since last playing Alabama, has the nation's longest major college winning streak, 11 games.

There are only two other SEC games Saturday, Florida-Georgia at Jacksonville, Fla., and Kentucky-Vanderbilt at Lexington Ky., as 10th-ranked Auburn, 13th-ranked Tennessee, Ole Miss and Mississippi State all have open dates.

In independent action, Florida State hosts Tulsa, Georgia Tech hosts Boston College, Southern Mississippi hosts Chattanooga, Tampa hosts Miami of Florida and Tulane hosts Ohio University.

Kentucky is the only team to play both Alabama (8-35) and LSU (8-10) so far this season and Wildcat Coach John Ray called Saturday's game a tossup.

Ray said it "would be a hard thing" to predict a winner and insisted the two teams were so close that "one break may decide the game."

That break, Ray indicated, could be the playing field itself since Alabama is used to playing on artificial turf and LSU is not.

"A player who isn't used to an artificial turf has a tendency to be a bit more cautious," Ray said.

Alabama has utilized quarterback Terry Davis and a horde of running backs in a wishbone offense that has averaged better than 36 points and 400 yards per game, mainly by rushing. LSU, which leads the SEC in passing on the strong arm of Bert Jones, has a more balanced offense.

Alabama leads LSU in total defense but the Bengals lead the SEC in rushing defense and have allowed only one touchdown by passing in seven games.

"There's not a great deal of difference between those two defensive units," Ray analyzed. "They both make you go the hard way. You try a sweep or a pass against either one and there's a swarm of red or white jerseys all around your man with the ball."

Florida and Georgia both have three losses, including two in SEC play, so they'll have only pride at stake Saturday. Vanderbilt (3-4) and Kentucky (2-6) don't even have much of that.

The big question at Tallahassee, Fla., will be how much yardage national passing leader Gary Huff can amass. The Seminole quarterback is currently No. 2 nationally (behind Virginia Tech's Don Strook) in total offense with an average of 270 yards per game—about 30 more than he won with a year ago.

Lakers trip Houston

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Although he scored only 10 points, Jerry West contributed 20 assists and stole the ball from turnover-plagued Houston seven times Tuesday night in leading the Los Angeles Lakers to a 122-109 win over the Rockets.

The defending NBA titlist have now won six straight and 10 of their last 11 but still trail Pacific Division-leading Golden State by 32 percentage points.

The loss left Houston clinging only to a half game advantage over Atlanta in the battle for first place in the Central Division.

The victory did not come cheaply to the Lakers, though, as West's backcourt mate, Gail Goodrich, had to be assisted off the court with a sprained left ankle late in the third quarter.

San Diego topples Nets

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Diego Conquistadors had four players with 20 points or more, led by forward Stew Johnson with 25, in stopping the New York Nets 116-108 in an ABA game Tuesday night.

After playing even most of the opening half, the Q's took a five-point advantage—92-87—at the end of the third quarter and extended their bulge to 107-93 with 5:36 remaining. The score was tied 60-60 at halftime.

Q's forward Jerry Chambers came in off the bench in the second quarter and hit his first seven shots. He finished with nine of 13 from the floor and 20 points.

Forward Ollie Taylor and guard Larry Miller each had 24 points for San Diego. Bill Melchioni paced the Nets with 20 points followed by George Carter and Jim Chones with 16 apiece.

Stanford passer hikes Pac-8 lead

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Stanford's Mike Boryla had a big day passing against UCLA last Saturday to widen his lead in the latest Pacific Eight total offense—and passing—department.

The Stanford quarterback is moving the ball 223.9 yards per game through the air and 308.5 yards per game total offense average. Second-place Danny Fouts of Oregon is way back with 183.9 passing and 175.4 total offense.

Season-long rushing leader Kermit Johnson is getting a challenge from soph Anthony Davis of USC, who has picked up 401 yards in the past two games. Johnson still leads at 914 yards per game while Davis is averaging 84.1.

USC's Mike Rae has regained the scoring lead with 82 points, while Ken Grandberry of Washington State has a conference-leading 12 touchdowns to rank second with 72 points.

Greg Specht of Oregon has 44 pass receptions to 41 for Cal's Steve Sweeney, who has caught 10 of his passes for touchdowns.

UCLA's Bruce Barnes is leading at a 44.1 yards average

Herzog selects coach staff

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI)—Whitey Herzog, the Texas Rangers' new manager who will have the major leagues' youngest squad under his command, Tuesday named three men in their middle 30s to form his coaching staff.

Herzog announced he had selected 34-year-old Chuck Estrada and 37-year-old Chuck Hiller of the New York Mets organization, and 33-year-old Jackie Moore from the Milwaukee Brewers' staff to help him handle a squad which averages 24 years of age.

Thus, Herzog, who was named last week to replace the resigned Ted Williams as manager of the one-time Washington-based American League club, cleaned house among the five-man staff helping Williams.

Only pitching coach Sid Hudson from that staff will remain with the Ranger organization. General Manager Joe Burke said Hudson would serve as a roving pitching coach and scout.

Apparently released were coaches Nellie Fox, Joe Camacho, George Susce and Wayne Terwilliger.

"I'm confident we'll have an effective, personable and knowledgeable coaching staff which will be able to communicate with youth," said the 40-year-old Herzog who has been director of player development for the Mets since 1968.

Estrada, Herzog said, had handled 55 pitchers as a pitching instructor in the Mets' farm organization for the past three years and had done "an outstanding job."

Black Pine trophies

ONE LITTLE GULLEY in the Black Pine country yielded these three trophies to Twin Falls hunters. Jim Swanson poses behind the biggest buck while those shot by Roger Steen and Dave Hutchins flank him. The big one weighed 216 pounds dressed with the others weighing in at around 175 pounds.

Lead shot poisoning causing research into substitutes for marshland killer

Lead shot poisoning has resulted in waterfowl deaths virtually from the time lead pellets were first used, and the subject has been a matter of some concern to wildlife biologists and ammunition manufacturers for many years. Quite a bit of research has been carried out to determine the magnitude of this problem and to search for possible solutions.

As early as 1842 European scientists recognized the vulnerability of waterfowl to lead poisoning, and bird losses to the "disease" were evidenced in U.S. writings from 1894 through the early 1900s. The problem had been identified and defined as the result of waterfowl feeding in heavily-hunted marsh and lake bottoms and swallowing lead pellets along with seeds and grain together with food and small pebbles, the lead shot enters the gizzard and is eventually absorbed by the birds' bloodstream. It affects the function of several organs and the birds, in effect, starve to death.

Large die-offs of waterfowl due to lead poisoning were reported from time to time mostly in the main waterfowl areas of the east, south and midwest. By the time the 1960's rolled around, the problems confronting waterfowl loomed large. Stifling pollution problems and decreasing habitat were taking their toll. Hunting seasons and bag limits were drastically cut. The Mississippi Flyway mallard limit was cut to one, and some species were becoming hard to find.

The battle against water pollution has been joined. The struggle to maintain reasonable amounts of habitat for waterfowl has been undertaken. The increased cost of the federal duck stamp from three to five dollars this year is proof of the increased concern over habitat.

And it is no longer practical to ignore the lead-shot problem. Researchers are examining alternatives to lead shot, such as plastics or iron. Actually, an impressive array of materials have been considered as substitutes or as "coatings" for lead shot. They include plastics, lubricants, glass, ceramic, silver, nickel, gold, lead composites, and various other metal alloys. However, iron shot has always received the most serious consideration.

Leading the search are the major arms and ammunition manufacturers—both individually and collectively through their trade organization, Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute.

SAMMI has contracted a $100,000 study by a private concern to come up with a nontoxic substitute. After extensive testing, iron shot is still the only material that shows promise. A special "soft" iron is the leading candidate, although some detrimental effects may have been revealed.

Problems have been reduced to possible indications of greater crippling of birds, barrel scoring and choke deformation on some types of shotgun barrels. Pilot introduction programs have been scheduled for seven federal hunting areas this fall to give soft iron shot an actual field test.

In the meantime, the National Wildlife Federation is getting anxious for decisions to be made. The researchers are playing it conservative, holding that despite the pushy stance of the Federation, they want to be sure of solutions to the existing soft iron problems. Results of the seven test areas this fall should provide some basis for making decisions one way or the other.

There is no doubt that a serious problem exists and that solutions are urgently needed. There is also little doubt that, with all of the research and technical development that has been carried on, a change is in the offing. Just how soon that change will come about is the crux of the controversy.

Through all the confusion and controversy, the matter of informing the average waterfowl hunter may have been overlooked, however. He is the one who will face any difficulties posed by new shot. Given the opportunity to know what the problem is and the best solution for it, he will gladly accept any handicap that may be linked to use of iron shot. The change will be made more completely and efficiently with his cooperation.

While some officials have estimated that as much as 6,000 tons of lead shot are fired over waterfowl areas annually, that figure seems a bit high to others. If an average load of 1 1/2 ounces of shot were to be assumed, an average of almost 13 shots per bird would have to be fired to bag the approximately 10,000,000 waterfowl taken annually. Still, density of lead shot in heavily hunted areas can run from 8,000 to 120,000 pellets per acre in the upper few inches of marsh or lake bottom. Under some circumstances, only one pellet can kill a mallard-size bird.

It has been estimated that two to three percent of the entire fall duck flight may be doomed to lead poisoning death. So, when these estimated losses are compounded with losses due to habitat decreases and deterioration, it is clear that a change is needed—and quick. When that change comes, it is hoped that Joe Duck Hunter will know what it is and why it is. Time will tell.

To date, the fingerprints of no two persons have been found to be exactly the same.

ISU must beat Boise to clinch Big Sky crown

POCATELLO — Civil War usually breaks out when Idaho State meets Boise State in any sport, but when the conference football championship is on the line the action really gets tough. The two schools meet in Boise Saturday at 1:30.

As far as the conference championship goes, it's as simple as this — if Idaho State wins the Big Sky trophy returns to Pocatello for the first time since 1963. If Boise wins, the championship goes to Montana State.

Bob Griffin's Bengals won their sixth in a row by crushing Weber State 49-7. ISU had not won six in a row since 1959, and no ISU team has won seven in a row since the 1957 undefeated 9-0 team of Babe Caccia.

The Wildcats were kind enough to contribute nine fumbles to ISU's cause, of which they lost eight. ISU also picked off two passes to run their record total to 18. The school record is 24 grabbed in 1960.

"You never plan for fumbles," Griffin said, "but a lot of them can be attributed to hard-hitting defense that forced them to fumble. I credit Defensive Coordinator Bill Muir and his staff for as fine a job as they did."

"Boise will be a change for our defense. They run the option, but not primarily. They are the only team we face so far that does not use the option as their basic attack. They have an explosive attack with the best set of pass receivers in the conference as their basic weapon."

The receivers are Al Marshall, who has caught 39 passes for 770 yards and 7 TD's, and Don Huff, 37 catches, 572 yards, and 7 TD's. Throwing the ball are Ron Autelle and Jim McMillan. Both will play, although Autelle will probably start. They direct an offense which has averaged 468 yards a game. Autelle is 62 for 125 for 1249 yards, and McMillan is 42 for 85 for 646 yards. Boise has scored 23 TD's via the air.

Boise has five top runners. Last year's top rusher, Cary Hoshaw, can't get into the lineup. Harry Rieneer, from little Cottonwood, Idaho, is the top ground gainer with 396 yards and a 5.7 average. Bill Stephens is averaging 5.5, Dave Nicely 5.1, and Pat Riley 4.9.

The Broncos run out of a slot-T formation with Huff and Marshall both split and either halfback in the slot outside of tackle.

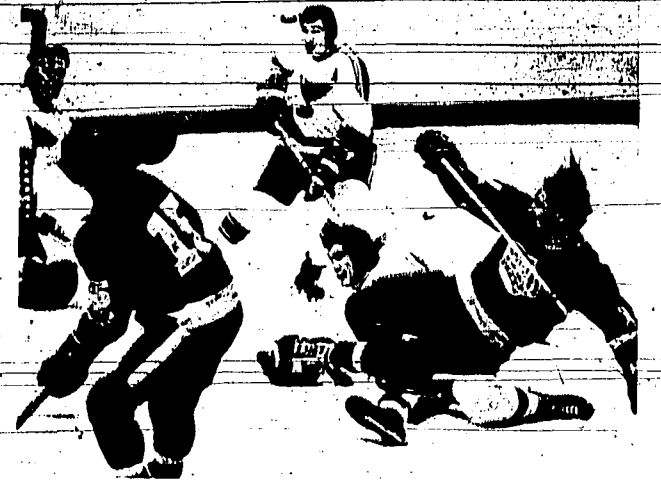

"This won't be the same team that has lost three games," commented Griffin. "They will put their best team this year on the field against us. I have great respect for Coach Tony Knap. He has the ability to attack an opponent's weaknesses, and to set up his defense to stop his opponent's attack."

"Boise has an outstanding offense with a big line, those great receivers, the two good quarterbacks, capable running backs. We know we'll really have to get it together to beat them."

Where Boise has had problems is on defense; but middle linebacker John Walker and safety Joe Larkin can play for anybody. Knap has had injury problems on defense but the potential is there and Boise can stop ISU.

Unitas denies disenchantment

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Baltimore Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas denied newspaper reports Tuesday night that he plans to retire or demand to be traded.

Unitas also discredited a story that he kicked his jersey into a corner of the dressing room after sitting out the Colts' 24-17 victory over the New England Patriots Monday night.

The Washington Star-News quoted the "Golden Arm" as saying, "I won't be back next year. Not here anyway. I wouldn't want to come back in any capacity after the way they've treated me."

Baltimore's first under new coach John Sandusky. Unitas' contract runs out after this season, but he said, "Right now I have no plans to quit or play elsewhere or go into coaching."

The Star-News quoted him, however, as saying after the Patriots game, "I don't know what I'm going to do next year, but I won't be back here. That's for sure."

The newspaper also said there were reports Unitas might go to the Los Angeles Rams, now owned by Carroll Rosenbloom, who until this year owned the Colts.

Foyt sees three-way race duel

HOUSTON (UPI) — A. J. Foyt, the three-time Indianapolis 500 winner who makes rare appearances on the NASCAR circuit, said Tuesday that Sunday's Texas 500 at College Station will be a battle between himself, Richard Petty and Bobby Allison.

"Petty and Bobby have no love for me and it's kind of a mutual feeling," Foyt told the Houston Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association. "There's no love lost on either side. I can see why since I took more than $60,000 of their money back to Texas."

Foyt has entered only three NASCAR races this year and has two victories and a second place. He won, at Daytona, collecting $33,500, and Ontario, Calif., receiving $28,595, and was second at Atlanta, worth $10,300.

"They're going to be tough on me, especially here right near my home town," Foyt said.

No claws

NASSAU-PARADISE ISLAND, Bahamas (UPI) — The tasty Bahamian lobsters served to Nassau and Paradise Island vacationers differ from the Maine and Nova Scotia varieties in that they have no claws. Sometimes called crawfish or spiny lobster, these crustaceans are steamed, boiled, broiled, barbecued and dished up in salads.

Seal coach quits after 12 games

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — California Seals' owner Charles O. Finley announced Tuesday that he has accepted the resignation of Garry Young as coach of his National Hockey League club.

At an evening news conference, Finley said Fred Glover, the Seals' executive vice president, would take over as coach. Glover, 44, had coached the club for three full years and three games into the 1971-72 season.

Glover will serve until another regular coach can be found, Finley said, but Glover indicated he will probably have the job for the rest of the current season.

Warriors rally past Buffalo

BUFFALO (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors turned a two-point halftime deficit into an 18-point third quarter lead and blasted the Buffalo Braves 105-91 Tuesday night for their sixth straight National Basketball Association victory.

Jeff Mullins powered the second half rally, hitting for 14 of his game high 22 points. The Warriors trailed 53-51 at halftime but uncorked a 32-point third period while restricting the Braves to 12 points.

Buffalo never got closer than 12.

Wells suspended by Oilers

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Oilers suspended receiver Warren Wells indefinitely Tuesday and levied a heavy fine on the troubled veteran for missing a weekend game and a meeting.

Wells, picked up from the Oakland Raiders last month on 100 waivers, was placed on the move list and suspended indefinitely. He must remain on the move list for at least two weeks and possibly seven — the balance of the season.

Wells, 29, is on probation in California on a charge of attempted rape. He worked out with the Oilers for the first time last Friday.

Atlanta takes overtime win

ATLANTA (UPI) — George Trapp hit a bucket with two minutes to play in overtime Tuesday night to give the Atlanta Hawks a 109-107 come-from-behind victory over the Baltimore Bullets.

Atlanta had trailed since the opening minutes of the game when Trapp's basket gave the Hawks their third straight victory.

Pete Maravich, who had 28 points for the night, fired in eight points in the final two minutes of regulation play to spark a Hawk rally from 13 points back. Maravich's last goal, with eight seconds to play, had tied the score at 101-101 and sent the contest into overtime.

Trapp had 20 points and a career high of 10 rebounds for the Hawks. Mike Riordan led Baltimore with 28 points and Dave Stallworth had 18.

Mayberry wins gold glove

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — John Mayberry, the Kansas City Royals' young slugger, also was the American League's premier fielding first baseman in 1972.

The 22-year-old giant from Detroit led the league in six of seven defensive categories, including fielding percentage. His .950 edged the .946 posted by Chicago's Dick Allen.

Mayberry also led in putouts (4,338), total chances (1,427), double plays (141) and games played (146). He tied for fewest errors among regulars with seven.

Phils waive Chris Short

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies asked waivers Tuesday on Chris Short, their top-winning lefthander who sat out the 1972 season with an injury.

In making the announcement, general manager Paul Owens said the 35-year-old southpaw would be "given every opportunity to make the club" in spring training. Short owns a 132-127 record in 13 seasons with the Phillies.

Atlanta Braves

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Braves won their sixth straight National Basketball Association victory Tuesday night, defeating the Buffalo Braves 105-91.

Bruins lose goaltender

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Bruins goaltender Ross Brooks suffered a broken left collarbone Tuesday in a rapid-shooting drill at Boston Garden and will be out for at least two months, the team reported.

Brooks had provided the sole ray of hope in the Bruin's dismal start this year, going undefeated with two wins and two losses in the four games he started and maintaining a 2.87 goals against average.

Warriors rally past Buffalo

BUFFALO (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors turned a two-point halftime deficit into an 18-point third quarter lead and blasted the Buffalo Braves 105-91 Tuesday night for their sixth straight National Basketball Association victory.

Delaware maintains top spot in poll; ISU climbs to 12th

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a bad week for the national polls. While Delaware moved steadily — if not spectacularly — toward a second straight national title and Louisiana Tech hung right in at No. 2, no less than eight top 20 teams of last week were upset and six of them dropped right out of the latest ratings of the United Press International Board of Coaches.

Top-rated Delaware got a mild scare from Millanova a week after its big win over Temple. The Blue Hens, however, put down the Wildcats 14-7 for their second straight triumph over a major college foe and collected 23 first place votes from the coaches for 330 points. Louisiana Tech, still matching Delaware win-for-win, had nine first place votes and 310 points.

Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo was again third, but last week's No. 4 team, McNeese State, highlighted the wave of upsets by 25-10 to Northwestern Louisiana and fell all the way to 14th. Tennessee State thus moved up a notch to No. 4 and South Dakota moved in at No. 5.

Another top-rated team to feel the sting of defeat was Massachusetts which tumbled from sixth to 15th after suffering its first setback of the year, 28-15 to Bucknell. North Dakota, Ashland, Tennessee Tech, Grambling and Drake completed the top 10, Grambling being out of the top-rated teams last week.

Carson-Newman headed the second ten, followed by Idaho State, Livingston State, McNeese State, Massachusetts, Jackson State, Central Oklahoma State, Northwestern Louisiana, Bridgeport (Conn.) and the University of California at Davis. The last four schools were making their debuts in the top 20 while Jackson State (like Grambling) was returning after being ranked earlier in the season.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International top 20 college division football teams with first place votes and point records in parentheses (win-loss record) are:

Team	Points
1. Delaware (12-1)	330
2. Louisiana Tech (9-0)	310
3. Cal Poly (15-0)	230
4. Tennessee State (16-1)	190
5. South Dakota (16-1)	172
6. Northwestern Louisiana (14-1)	165
7. Ashland (9-0)	99
8. Tennessee Tech (11-1)	92
9. Grambling (17-2)	48
10. Drake (11-0)	44

ELAINE LEWIS
speaker

Baptist conclave to open

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Paul W. (Elaine) Lewis will be the featured speaker at the featured speaker of the Intermountain Area Convention of American Baptist Churches at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at First Baptist Church, Twin Falls.

Sessions will continue through Saturday. The Intermountain Area comprises congregations from Utah and southern Idaho.

Mrs. Lewis, with her husband, serves with the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society in Thailand. A native of Denver, she graduated from Baylor University, Waco, Tex., and received the degree of master of religious education from Eastern Baptist Seminary, Philadelphia. She also studied at the Far Eastern Language Institute of Yale University.

While on a year's furlough, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis live in Eugene, Ore., where he is completing work toward his doctorate in anthropology at the University of Oregon. Mrs. Lewis will give three addresses.

Other program items include three Bible studies by the Rev. Paul Szeto, Chinese Baptist Church, Seattle; the Friday men's luncheon — address "Vignettes: The Church and Mental Health," by the Rev. John P. Fabian, Seattle, Lutheran pastoral psychologist; the Rev. Dr. E. Wayne Roberts, Seattle, executive minister, Northwest Division of American Baptist Church, and the Rev. Robert J. Smith, Twin Falls, minister of the Intermountain Area.

Meal functions include Friday noon luncheon for men and women at the Turf Club, the convention banquet Friday night at the YMCA-YWCA, and the general luncheon Saturday noon at First Baptist Church. Sessions are open to the public, and visitors from other churches in the community will be welcomed.

Firm lists partner at Jerome

JEROME — John Hepworth of the law firm of Hepworth, Nungesser and Elton, Boise, has announced the association of J. William Hart as a partner.

Hart, who's name has been added to the firm, will live in Jerome and has established an office here.

He was born in Twin Falls and graduated from Ruhl High School where he lettered in both football and basketball.

Hart was senior class president and captain of the football team.

He has a bachelor of science degree in business with a major in accounting from the University of Idaho and also a law degree from the same university.

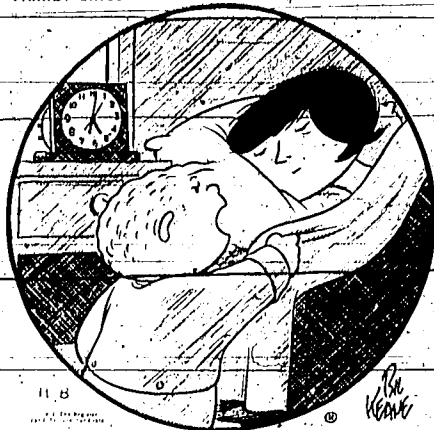

After graduation, he spent four years in the U.S. Army's Judge Advocate General Corps and was discharged a captain. He was awarded the Bronze Star for service in Vietnam. While in the army, Hart was primarily a criminal defense attorney and has had extensive trial experience.

After the service he became associated with the law firm of Hellen, Bell and Binley in Coeur d'Alene. Hart was office in Stillwater, a post which he held prior to coming to Twin Falls.

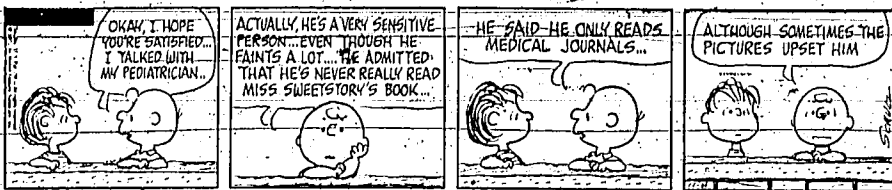

He is married to the former Val Hoff, Sprague, Wash. They have one son.

Why women who went to coeducational colleges wind up with 30 per cent larger families than women who went to girls' schools is another unexplained phenomenon. It's known, also, that 10 per cent more of the coeds marry. And 70 per cent marry earlier.

THAT THE grasshopper talks with the saw teeth on its hind legs is widely known. But were you aware its vocabulary consists of nearly 30 different sounds? Actually, a grasshopper can say more to another grasshopper than a dog can say to another dog, I'm told.

THOSE intense laborers who work with their heads instead of their hands need more sleep. Or so says one Seattle physician, at any rate. Takes a greater amount of time to replenish nervous energy expended by mental action than is needed to recuperate from physical fatigue, claims he.

Q. "Who has the bigger feet, Greta Garbo or Jackie Onassis?"
A. Garbo wears shoe size 9. Still, presumably, Mrs. Onassis, size 10. Would not disclose these intimate feminine facts had they not already been widely reported. Seasoned citizens will recall Garbo's fascinating feet were much discussed in print for about 40 years. Mrs. Onassis size was published prominently after she took off her shoes to walk into a religious temple in Bangkok.

WORS time of the year to start a diet is now, November. No, Thanksgiving, then Christmas, then the why.

ANY GIRL who is 5-feet-6-inches tall should not forget she is exactly the same height as that elusive beauty known as the Venus de Milo.

THAT the men who commit bigamy outnumber the women who do so by four to one has been reported. Chent asks why. Men are far more apt to find the opportunity to cover their tracks. No doubt that's reason No. 1. But reason No. 2 is noteworthy, also. Scholars officially report what most girls already know. Namely, that women by nature tend to be more monogamous. Divorce statistics not withstanding, the wife is far more likely than her husband to be of the one-and-only school of thought.

SKIN divers say one drink of liquor taken down to a depth of 30 feet turns equal in its kick to about five drinks kept at sea level.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange edged off their early morning surge as profit taking became a factor in heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday.

Shortly before noon, the Dow Jones industrial average was up 3.31 at 987.11. It had been up over 9 points. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.15 at 113.03.

Advances outstripped declines, 903-to-473, among the 1,712 issues on the tape. Two-hour turnover amounted to 11,870,000 shares, compared with 9,500,000 shares traded for the same period on Tuesday.

Volume in the first hour—8,030,000 shares—was the third heaviest in NYSE history. The market responded to President Nixon's landslide reelection with an initial surge of buying. Robert Johnson of Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis said removal of the election uncertainty was favorable. "The market doesn't like uncertainty," he concluded.

40,000 persons to fill state park for jamboree

BOISE (UPI) — Imagine a Rocky Mountain setting, idyllic and serene, one day, and that same setting the next day inhabited by almost 40,000 persons, complete with necessary living facilities and a tightly-knit local government.

A modern-day example of urban sprawl? Hardly. It's what northern Idaho faces next August when 35,000-plus boy scouts descend on Farragut State Park north of Coeur d'Alene for 10 days of jamboree festivities.

To prepare for their arrival, Idaho State officials have begun arranging temporary buildings, sewage disposal, water treatment and food storage facilities.

For its efforts, the state figures, it may net more than $1 million. Electrical and building contractors, laborers, meat producers and dairies are currently being sought to ready the 5,000-acre site that will become Idaho's second largest city population-wise for a week.

And they say Rome wasn't built in a day.

"At $75 cost per boy, that comes to almost $3 million with all the incidentals thrown in," says Lloyd Howe, director of the Idaho Department of Commerce and Development. "But then we'll have our own incidentals to deal with. For instance, there's a problem with the surrounding beach, and we may have to pump some of the junk out of the lake.

"And you can't have any pollution for ecology-minded boy scouts," he mused.

Howe said food storage may be a problem; that warehouses in Spokane, Wash., 70 miles away, appear to be the only solution to the more than $200,000 worth of food.

"You never think much about those old clichés like pancakes as high as the Empire State Building and hot dogs enough to stretch around the world until you have to deal with enough food to feed 40,000 hungry stomachs for 10 days, prepare it in packages and store it in advance," says Ron Filippo, director of public relations for the Boy Scouts of America (BSA).

Howe insists Idahoans should be used to "boom-like assaults" on the relatively unpopulated northern part of the state.

Elusive symbol

CALL IT A symbol of an elusive peace, this fearless feathered friend keeps a South Vietnamese soldier company on Highway 13 — just 22 miles from Saigon. (UPI)

Law won't apply

BOISE (UPI) — Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley says Idaho's 1971 Surface Mining Law may not apply to mining exploration activity underway near Silver City. Trombley said officials from his department, the U.S. Bureau of Land Management and Mines Inspector Carl Griner inspected the activity Oct. 27.

Proposals readied

BOISE (UPI) — A series of recommendations including one for a moratorium on new subdivisions until a land-use plan is finished have been readied for presentation to the Governor's Advisory Council on Comprehensive Health Planning.

The recommendations were made Monday during a joint meeting of two council subgroups, the population trends task force and the environmental health committee.

The groups said the state should designate community areas and restrict subdivisions outside of those areas.

Other recommendations were that:

— An environmental impact study should be made by the state on proposed commercial or state development projects costing more than $1 million;

— The state should require separation of recyclable and non-recyclable solid waste for separate collection in all cities using a central collection system;

— Public schools should develop and implement curricula on environmental protection.

Miss Davis, Mills exchange promises

SHOSHONE — Eileen Davis, Gooding, became the bride of Darvin Mills, North Shoshone, in files Nov. 4.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Cheney, Gooding. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Weber, Gooding, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Mills, Shoshone.

The double ring service was performed by Rev. Edson Gilmore of the First Methodist Church.

The bride wore an apricot color double-knit street-length dress enhanced with a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Cheney and best man was Larry Barney, Gering, Nebr.

A reception was held at the Cheney home. The wedding cake was decorated with doves and bells. Desiree Mills, daughter of the bridegroom; Trina Davis, daughter of the bride, and Shannon Tucker, niece of the bride, served the guests. Immediate members of the couple's family and close friends attended from Nebraska, Shoshone, Gooding, Pocatello, and Dietrich.

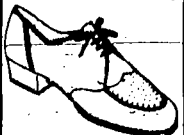

After a wedding trip to Pocatello, the couple reside in North Shoshone. The bride is an LPN employed at Green Acres Terrace Nursing Home, Gooding, and Mills is engaged in farming in North Shoshone.

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I need help desperately. Please don't tell me that I am stupid to be worrying about something like this with so much real unhappiness in the world today, but here is my problem.

My husband and I have been happily married for 24 years. I am 45 and he is 46. We have three children. About a year ago I caught my husband smoking a cigaret after he had promised me he'd quit three years ago. Well, I bumped into him accidentally downtown and he had a cigaret in his mouth! I was sick with disappointment.

He promised me on bended knee that he would never smoke another cigaret as long as he lived, but when he'd come home, sometimes I smelled smoke on his clothes and in his hair. He said he'd been around smokers, and I believed him.

Real sly hubby

Well, I caught him smoking again in the basement and then I really went to pieces. I am especially heartsick because his father, who was a chain smoker, died of throat cancer at the age of 53. I love him, Abby, but I feel like leaving him. He has disappointed me so terribly, I've lost all respect for him. And here I was bragging to all our friends that he had quit when his brothers didn't have the guts to. What a fool I've made of myself. Can you help me?

HUMILIATED AND MISERABLE

DEAR HUMILIATED: Let's put that thing first: Are you miserable because you were humiliated, or because you are concerned about your husband's health? I know you love him, but your husband's smoking has turned into a power struggle between you two. Quit nagging him and making him feel like a little boy who has to sneak a smoke behind the barn. He knows the hazards involved, but the poor man is hooked. He needs your love and understanding, not sarcasm and punishment. You can't make him quit. But he can quit if he really wants to.

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a young man, and we plan to marry soon. I have a 2-year-old child, but I have never been married.

My fiancé of course knows all about it, as the child lives with me. The problem is how to tell his parents. He says they are from the old country and may not understand.

I have never met them as they live in another state, but they have been asking their son to bring me to meet them. How do we go about breaking the news?

CHICAGO PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: When you go to meet them, take your child along. His parents will probably assume you are widowed or divorced. If (and when) they inquire about the child's father, tell them the truth. They'll survive.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote in asking if it was okay to ask a stranger if he was wearing a toupee—and where he bought it. You advised him against it, saying if it looked like a toupee it was no compliment.

Listen to this: a woman I had never laid eyes on before came up to me while I was waiting for a bus, and said, "Excuse me, but if you are wearing a brassiere, would you mind telling me what make it is?"

I was, and I told her. But I've never been so shocked in all my life.

Problem? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90060 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

US business taking advantage of Soviet trade

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
American business is moving swiftly to take advantage of the new trade agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Latest to join the parade are two of the nation's largest banks, the First National City and the Chase Manhattan. The former is discussing the possibility of opening a full branch in the Soviet Union with the right to accept deposits denominated in rubles.

The Chase, which handled a large part of the financing of the recent $1 billion grain deal between the two nations, has applied to open a representative office in Moscow to seek further financing opportunities. Both actions are the direct result of the agreement two weeks ago by which the Soviets agreed to settle for $722 million their World War II lend-lease debt to the United States and the U.S. in its turn authorized the Export-Import bank to extend credits for sales to Russia and to seek from Congress next year lowered tariffs for Russian goods under favored nations treatment.

Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia had been the only Communist nations up to now to receive such treatment. Lending strong support to government moves to ease trade restrictions against Communist nations has been the CED, the Committee for Economic Development consisting of 200 American business leaders and educators. The committee led the way in urging the government to establish conditions, including government-supported credits, which would enable American business to catch up with western Europe and Japan in trade with Communist nations. The committee noted that in 1971 the six European Common Market nations did more than 10 times as much business with the East as did the United States.

A report put together by the committee acknowledged problems but contended that, rather than endangering U.S. security, the effect would be the opposite since trading partners tend to achieve mutually beneficial economic gains and thus develop a greater stake in settling political dispute peacefully.
